Agnew Being Investigated for Bribery and Fraud

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is under investigation in a case involving allegations of bribery, extortion and tax fraud in his home state of Maryland.

He acknowledged he was under investigation for "possible violations of the criminal statutes" but said he was innocent.

Agnew was formally notified last week by the Justice Department that he was being investigated by the U.S. Attorney's office in Baltimore, the Wall Street Journal, the Washington Post and The New York Times reported in their editions today.

The Journal said the allegations against Agnew included bribery, extortion and tax fraud.

The vice president, who had been relatively untouched by the Watergate scandal rocking the Nixon administration, proclaimed his innocence.

"I have been informed that I am under investigation for possible violations of the criminal statutes," Agnew said in a statement issued by his office Monday night.

"I will make no further comment until the investigation has been completed, other than to say that I am innocent of any wrongdoing, that I have complete confidence in the criminal justice system of the United States and that I am equally confident my innocence will be affirmed."

The Wall Street Journal reported the allegations against Agnew stem from the award of state contracts while Agnew was governor of Maryland during 1967 and 1968, and of federal contracts in Maryland since he became vice president in 1969. The newspaper said the federal contracts were let by the General Services Administration (GSA), the federal agency in charge of constructing buildings.

Agnew, the Journal said, had sought a White House audience after receiving the Justice Department notice, presumably to inform President Nixon.

The Post said the information was developed by an investigation "centered on alleged kickbacks to Baltimore County political figures from contractors mostly located in the Baltimore area."

The Washington newspaper said two other prominent Maryland Republicans were under investigation with Agnew. It identified them as longstanding friends of Agnew who had helped him with fundraising for his campaigns—Annapolis banker J. Walter Jones and Baltimore investment banker I. H. "Bud" Hammerman.

The letter to Agnew, the Journal said, was cleared at the top of the Justice Department by Attorney General Elliot L. Richardson, who notified special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox, although the subject matter of the probe is not related to the Watergate scandal.

Although he is under investigation, this does not necessarily mean that Agnew will be indicted. The Journal said prosecutors in the U.S. District Attorney's office in Baltimore still have not presented the evidence they have assembled to a grand jury sitting in Baltimore.

The U.S. Attorney's office, which is headed by George Beall, the brother of Maryland's Republican Sen. J. Glenn Beall, started its investigation last January, the Journal said. To start with, it concentrated on reports of kickbacks and payoffs by contractors, consulting engineers and architects to current office-holders in Baltimore County. The probe was broadened in recent months, the newspaper said, to take in state contracts awarded during the two years Agnew was governor and the GSA contracts in the state since he became vice president.

Agnew started his political career in Baltimore County, serving first as a zoning official, then becoming county executive before he ran for governor.

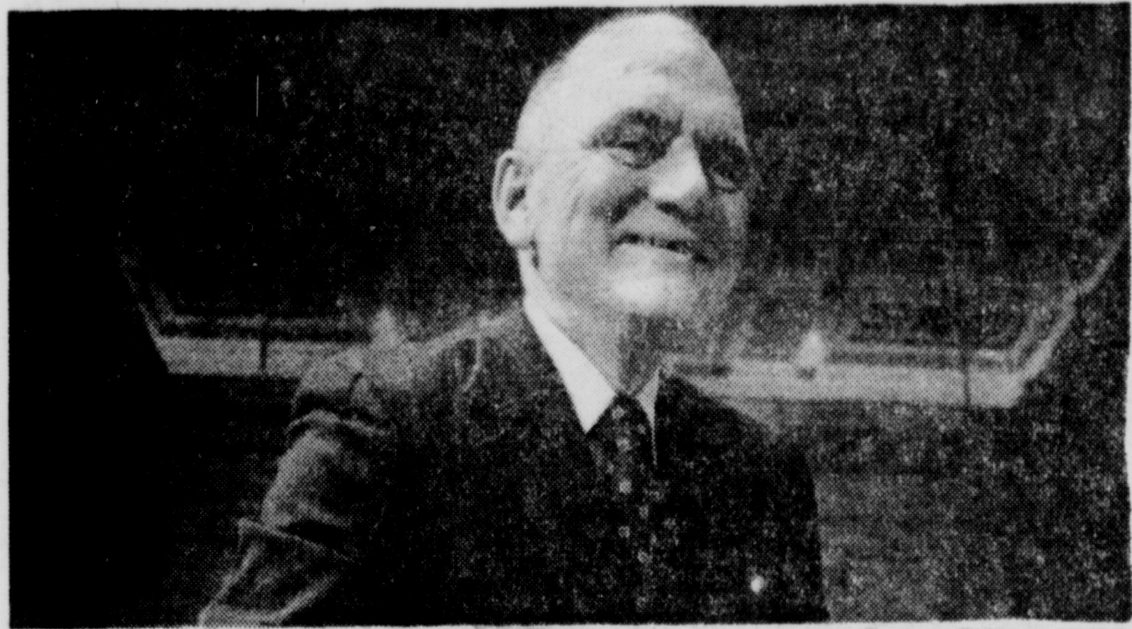

In June, an "information" equivalent of an indictment, was brought against William E. Fornoff, a county official who served under Agnew when Agnew was county executive and later assisted Agnew's successor in the job, Dale Anderson. Anderson also is a target of the investigation, the Journal said, but denies any involvement.

Fornoff admitted in court that he acted as a conduit for cash payments from contractors to an unidentified county official starting in 1967. He pleaded guilty to one minor tax charge in exchange for testifying against other persons involved.

It was unclear whether Agnew, as vice president, has legal immunity. He has certain constitutional immunities but it was uncertain whether these would cover any offenses he may have committed before he became vice president.

VICE PRESIDENT AGNEW

L. PATRICK GRAY TESTIFYING AT MONDAY'S WATERGATE HEARINGS.

Kleindienst Tells of President's Shock

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon was "dumbfounded," Kleindienst said.

Kleindienst said Justice Department officials told him, and he told the President, that Dean and Magruder had implicated former Atty. Gen. John Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, N. Mitchell, campaign aide Frederick C. LaRue, then Kleindienst told the Senate Watergate committee that he had learned of accusations by White House counsel John W. Robert C. Mardian, "you name Jean III and former Nixon campaign deputy Jeb Stuart Magruder early in the morning of April 15."

He said he immediately sought a meeting with Nixon, and relayed the information to him early that afternoon in Nixon's office.

"He was dumbfounded, he was very upset," Kleindienst said. The White House evidence committee is seeking consists of tape recordings and documents which committee members believe would go a long way toward answering the question of what, if any, knowledge Nixon had of the Watergate burglary and the subsequent cover-up.

Nixon has refused to turn over the evidence to the committee on grounds that to do so would violate the twin doctrines of executive privilege and separation of powers.

Also, in a court appearance lasting less than two minutes, attorneys for President Nixon filed a lengthy legal argument justifying his refusal to comply with a subpoena issued by Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox.

Content of the legal argument were not immediately disclosed.

Cox wants tapes of presidential conversations relating to the Watergate case.

J. Fred Buzhardt represented the President in an appearance before U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica.

Sirica gave Cox until Aug. 13 to respond to the argument of Nixon's lawyers. The judge then granted Buzhardt's request to have until Aug. 17 to reply to Cox's filing and scheduled oral arguments for 10 a.m. EDT Aug. 22.

Kleindienst also testified that he warned Ehrlichman less than two months after the June 17 break-in that he might be involved in an obstruction of justice. And Kleindienst said he threatened to resign if Ehrlichman didn't stop meddling in the investigation.

He also said the mastermind of the wiretapping, G. Gordon Liddy, approached him the afternoon after the raid and said that White House or Nixon campaign employees might have been included among the five men arrested inside Democratic national headquarters.

He said he immediately gave orders against any special treatment for the men, and told Liddy to leave the golf club where they met.

$10 Million on Nixon Homes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has made an unprecedented accounting for some of the secret costs of the presidency while ordering a full disclosure on his purchase of homes in California and Florida.

Acting on the President's instructions, officials at the White House, Secret Service and General Services Administration revealed Monday that nearly $10 million had been spent by the government since 1969 for security, communications and other work at the First Family's out-of-town residences and offices.

At the same time, presidential spokesman Gerald L. Warren announced that Nixon had hired a private auditing firm to prepare "a complete, detailed accounting of the acquisition of the homes and property" he has purchased since taking office in San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla.

That report will be released within a month, Warren said as he told newsmen it would "include everything . . . on which you have had questions."

The White House has been barraged with questions since May, when it disclosed that Nixon had borrowed $625,000 from industrialist friend Robert M. Abplanalp to purchase the San Clemente estate in July 1969—and that the loan was canceled in a complex transaction 18 months later when Nixon sold to Abplanalp 23 of the 29 acres in the ocean-side tract.

GSA administrator Arthur Sampson, in an apparent reference to Watergate, said his agency divulged its $3.7 million in spending for security and administrative support of the President and his family because of "the atmosphere that exists today government wide."

He said virtually all the work was requested by the Secret Service in line with its duty to protect the President and his family "both from malicious harm and from safety hazards."

Many of the items listed in a 70-page fine-print breakdown supplied by Sampson dealt with presidential security. But a few didn't—including $89 for "four decorative pillows" for the President's San Clemente den, $475 for a "swimming pool cleaner" for the Key Biscayne compound and $6.83 for "picture frame supplies."

Sampson said some such items will be reclaimed by the government when Nixon leaves office and no longer needs them.

Warren said the same is true for more than $600,000 of the nearly $6 million in communications installations at other work financed by the military at San Clemente and Key Biscayne.

—Warren said more than $2 million had been spent for communications at Key Biscayne, Fla., about $3.7 million for similar equipment at San Clemente, Calif., and another $160,000 for communications equipment in the Bahama Islands where Nixon sometimes vacations. These previously secret expenditures came from military funds he said.

—Sampson said the GSA has spent $3.7 million at the President's residences and offices in Key Biscayne and San Clemente. This included $1.7 million for the Western White House office complex. All but a few of the projects were requested by the Secret Service for the President's protection, Sampson said.

The Secret Service said, that in addition to the work financed by the GSA, it had spent "less than $300,000 from its own funds at homes and offices of the First Family outside of Washington."

Sampson, at a news conference, said a decision was made by White House, Secret Service and GSA officials "to reveal nothing" about the government-financed work at San Clemente and Key Biscayne.

But under the pressure of inquiries from the media and Congress he said it was decided to make a full accounting and "take the mystery out of San Clemente and Key Biscayne."

In releasing a 70-page list of GSA expenditures, Sampson said a few of the projects resulted in improvements to the President's private property.

Record Walk, Bright Future for Astros

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab's astronauts return to orbital research today with a record 6½-hour odd job spacewalk behind them and the future considerably brighter for their two-month voyage—and for another trip this fall.

The silver and white awning Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma hoisted over the big space station, like sailors raising a sail, has already started dropping interior temperatures, solving an overheating problem.

And space officials have sounded more optimistic that Skylab 2's three astronauts will be able to return to Earth in their mechanically troubled Apollo module as planned, rather than having to be rescued.

The spacewalkers also installed film in four solar telescopes, and Garriott's main job today was to turn on Skylab's observatory and examine the sun. Scientists say the research ship is giving them new insights into the solar mechanisms that generate the awesome energy sustaining life on Earth.

Lousma and mission commander Alan L. Bean were concentrating on medical experiments, and all three pilots hoped to get in some rest from Monday's fatiguing spacewalk. It was by far the longest men had spent outside an orbiting spaceship and doubled the mark set by the Skylab astronauts in June.

Before going to bed early today, Lousma told mission control the 17,000 m.e. an hour spacewalk "was like riding a white horse on top of the world, kind of like Peter Pan."

Ground controllers, meanwhile, breathed easier after a thorough check of engineering data radioed back from Skylab showed that its cooling system was in better shape than originally believed. It was first reported Sunday night that both cooling systems were leaking and flight directors said they would last only 60 days.

However, George Hardy, chief space station engineer, said late Monday a review showed that only one system had a definite leak and if the secondary plumbing complex was leaking, the coolant loss was so small Skylab's operation would not be affected.

Ground communicator Robert L. Crippen radioed the news to the astronauts before they went to bed early today.

"Good news," replied Bean. "We concur," Crippen said.

Hardy said neither the current mission, with 49 more days to go, nor the 55-day flight of the Skylab 3 astronauts would be affected. Nevertheless, engineers were studying the possibility of providing the next crew with a coolant replenishing kit.

Grand Union Proposal Also Before Members

Council to Vote on Freeman Building

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — The Daily Freeman's proposal to build a modern newspaper plant in the Broadway East Urban Renewal Project is headed for final approval when the Common Council meets in regular session tonight.

The Urban Renewal Committee has "strongly recommended" approval of the Freeman proposal which was aired at a public hearing on July 26 by the full Council. The five-acre parcel off the New Ferry Street is being sold by the urban renewal agency at a negotiated price of $21,000. With Council approval construction on the 29,000 square foot building is expected to start this fall.

Also on tap is the controversial Grand Union proposal whereby the supermarket chain seeks to build at the vacant St. Anne's Convent on Broadway at Orchard Street. Alderman Donald E. Quick, chairman of the Council's Laws and Rules Committee, said his committee will also bring out rezoning requests on Wilbur Avenue, Willow Street and Mary's Avenue, the latter a proposal by Dr. Yulin Yao to build a medical office building in a residential area.

Mayor Francis R. Koenig has a number of communications to the Council, one proposing legislation to formally establish the Bicentennial Commission, outlining its powers and duties and authorizing it to receive and expend funds.

Koenig is also notifying the Council of his appointment of two members to the Historic Landmarks Commission, filling vacancies due to resignations. Herbert Cutler of 106 St. James Street will serve until Sept. 8, 1975, filling the unexpired term of Fred C. Johnston. Paul Scogna of 147 Green Street will serve until Sept. 8, 1973, filling the unexpired term of Mrs. Elizabeth Donnaruma. Johnston and Mrs. Donnaruma resigned in April.

Koenig is also seeking Council approval of the financing of Phase II of the Rondout Neighborhood Center which went into construction last month. The overall cost will be $222,600 with the city paying $74,200 and the federal government the rest.

The mayor has also forwarded bicycle ordinances from the city of Rye, N.Y. and the Florida State Highway Commission's ordinance pertaining to bicycles for study by the Council.

In addition, Koenig is forwarding a report on his July 31 meeting with Penn-Central Railroad officials and officials from the State Department of Transportation concerning rail crossings in the city, maintenance and safety thereof. Alderman Brian E. Smith (R-Third Ward) has a resolution in proposing that the city tie in to the Citizens Emergency Telephone System with the county as part of its police emergency system. Smith proposed that the city spend $60,225 in revenue sharing funds to meet its share of the program.

The urban renewal agency is seeking a public hearing on a proposal by Whitale Inc. of Kingston to build an office building on a 13,000 square foot parcel in the Uptown Urban Renewal Project at the foot of Fair Street at Clinton Avenue Extension. The negotiated purchase price is $5,000.

In another urban renewal matter, it was announced by James G. Connors, urban renewal director, that land disposition agreements with the latter Nursing home have been signed for the construction of a $1.6 nursing home in Broadway East. Construction on the 120-bed facility is expected to begin this fall.

Robert Perry of 1 Albert Street seeks a change in zoning from R-3 to C-3 in order to sell his property to Fred Perry for the establishment of a sports car sales-service business.

John Buckman of 376 East Chester Street, who operates a farm at that address, has a claim in for $1,500 in damages due to floods during the period June 25-July 2. Buckman claims that most of his crop was wiped out by the floods, including 850 tomato plants and 625 pepper plants. That claim will be referred to Corporation Counsel Aaron E. Klein.

However, that claim may be obviated by the fact that Koenig has a communication in to the council indicating that an agreement has been reached with Buckman for future relief of flooding at his farm. The agreement, according to Koenig, involves the city's leasing of some of Buckman's land for the creation of a drainage area.

And, the Hudson Valley Citizens Watch on Nuclear Safety has a letter in to the Council in opposition to plans to build a nuclear power plant in the Town of Lloyd.

The Council meets at 7:30 p.m. in Chambers, City Hall, 1 Meadow Street.

New Village Manager Takes Oath in Ellenville

ELLENVILLE — Modris "Moe" Pukulis was sworn in as Ellenville's newest village manager at Monday's session of the village board.

The 26-year-old graduate of Northeastern University in Boston replaces Lawrence Eyres as village manager. Eyres resigned two years ago, and was replaced by Building Inspector Howard Weiss, who has served since September, 1971, in an interim capacity.

Pukulis, who holds a civil engineering degree and previously served as assistant to the town manager of Holden, Mass., was sworn in by Village Clerk Lilian Finklestein.

His appointment ends Weiss' two-year reign as acting village manager. The residents who attended Monday's meeting gave Weiss an ovation after he issued his final report.

In other action, the village board reappointed Gordon Kent to a five-year term as chairman of the Ellenville Housing Authority. Kent later reported that groundbreaking for Ellenville's new low income housing project should take place within 30 days.

The village board also heard a suggestion from a former Ellenville resident who proposed that a parcel of urban renewal land on Mill Street be developed into a "craft village" consisting of various craft workshops. There was an indication that such a project may not be feasible because Housing and Urban Development plans for the parcel must be strictly followed to maintain its eligibility for funds. At present, that parcel is earmarked for recreational purposes. But the village board nevertheless invited Mrs. Sheila Rudolph to discuss her ideas for the property with the new village manager.

The village board also awarded a $9,500 bid to Kelly Sand and Gravel of Ellenville for the demolition of four derelict buildings, but decided to further study two bids submitted for the purchase of fuel oil.

Village Treasurer Joseph Galanduk and Village Clerk Mrs. Finklestein were granted permission to attend (respectively) the fiscal officers training school and the municipal officers training school, which will be held simultaneously from Oct. 2 to 5 at the Pines Hotel in South Fallsburgh. Both employees were commended for the work they have done for the village.

Search Intensified For Murder Suspect

SPECULATOR, N.Y. (UPI)— State police, already scouring dense woods near this Adirondack village for a murder suspect, sealed off an additional area 25 miles to the northeast early today after a stolen car was chased into the spot.

The car had been reported stolen late Monday from a hunting lodge just north of this Hamilton County community. It was later sighted in neighboring Warren County by a service station attendant, and troopers sealed off the area where they believed the car to be.

Meanwhile, others of the 200-member contingent of police which have been searching for ten days for Robert F. Garrow Sr. of Syracuse maintained their vigil around a rugged wooded area southeast of this village.

"If this is him, this is the first time he has made an attempt to get out of the area," where state police have been searching southeast of here, a state police captain said early today.

It was in this area that Philip Dombrowski, 18, of Schenectady was murdered July 29. The victim and three other youths had been camping in the area when a man carrying a 30 - 30 rifle walked into their camp, tied them to trees and stabbed Dombrowski in the chest.

After the report of the stolen car, a white Pontiac Tempest bearing Ohio registration 4794 HC, other troopers were dispatched to an area near North Creek in Warren County. Troopers said they believed the car, which might contain Garrow, could not get out of the area.

Thus far, police have had only glimpses of what they believe was the Syracuse mechanic. In one case, a state trooper spotted a man fitting Garrow's description dart from a roadway into the forest. Police converged on the area almost immediately but failed to find the man.

Friends and relatives of the accused killer described him as an "expert woodsman" who was well acquainted with the search area. Last week, a forest ranger discovered a carefully constructed lean-to put together from pine and poplar branches. Authorities are convinced Garrow made the igloo-shaped enclosure for protection. A 30-30 round—the type used for his rifle—was found inside the lean-to.

Officials theorized that the alleged killer may have used it to hide while waiting for a motorist to use a nearby rest stop.

A state police spokesman said that a report Sunday evening that a man fitting Garrow's general build was seen near Route 87 in Warren County was a conservation officer.

Garrow, who served a prison term on a rape conviction, is also wanted for questioning in the fatal stabbing of Daniel Porter, 22, of Concord, Mass. Police have been unable to come up with a trace of Porter's companion, Susan Petz, 21, of Skokie, Ill. The pair had been camping some 30 miles from the scene of the later stabbing.

Five Oklahoma Prison Inmates Being Sought

MCALESTER, Okla. (UPI) — Authorities are looking for five inmates of the McAlester prison who escaped during the confusion following an eight-day convict insurrection.

Only one of the escapees was from the fire-gutted maximum security prison itself. The governor's office said Rex Brinlee Jr. apparently hid in a hole dug in the prison yard until an opportune moment to get to the fence enclosing the industrial compound and cut a hole to freedom.

Brinlee was described by Gov. David Hall as a "brutal, dispassionate killer . . . who cannot be allowed freedom in Oklahoma or any place else."

Three inmates transferred from McAlester to a training center near Heavener after the riot escaped from the lesser security facility Sunday, and an inmate taken to a McAlester hospital for medical treatment slipped away Saturday.

Brinlee was serving a life sentence. He was convicted of the bomb slaying of a Bristow school teacher in 1971.

"A jury has found him to be a brutal, dispassionate killer and it is imperative he be found and jailed immediately," Hall said.

At the peak of the uprising,

800 convicts set fires which destroyed all but the administration building and the cellblocks. The cellblocks were heavily vandalized.

The insurrection started the afternoon of July 27 and ended when the inmates were locked in barren cells Saturday afternoon.

A special legislative committee investigating the riot scheduled a meeting today with Warden Park Anderson; Irvine Ungerman, corrections board chairman, and Leo McCracken, Corrections Department director.

They were to discuss problems of caring for the more than 1,600 inmates still quarantined in the damaged prison and questions concerning the building of new prison facilities for the state.

Kidnapers Free Three, Seize Two in Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Kidnapers released three persons Monday, but seized at least two more in an unchecked wave of abductions that concentrates chiefly on foreigners and the rich.

More than 100 persons have been reported kidnapped this year, with ransoms paid for their releases ranging from a few thousand dollars to millions of dollars.

One of the kidnap victims freed Monday went home by taxi, his fare paid by a banknote removed by kidnapers from the ransom paid for his release.

The parents of Alberto Martin Weber, 13, paid a reported $70,000 for his release. The youth was seized near his Buenos Aires home on July 26.

Alejandra Gallego Sanchez, 10, also was kidnaped July 26 and was released on a street corner in Cordoba, about 400 miles northwest of Buenos Aires. Police did not say if a ransom was paid.

Also freed Monday was Rogelio Giabone, an official at the Buenos Aires airport but there was no report of a ransom in his case.

Shortly before the release of little Miss Sanchez, police said Mrs. Amelia de Guerin and her 10-year-old son Carlos were forced into a car in Cordoba as they left their home.

Police in the city of Pergamino, near Buenos Aires, reported the kidnaping of a textile plant owner and police sources in the same city said men identifying themselves as members of the leftwing guerrilla People's Revolutionary Army seized Nestor Parnaso, 16, son of a wealthy cattle grower.

In political developments, Mrs. Juan D. Peron, wife of former president, said Monday she might accept nomination as vice president to run with her husband in the Sept. 23 elections.

The elections were called to return Peron to the post he lost in 1955 when the military revolted.

His Justicialista party nominated Peron by acclamation for president Saturday and then nominated his wife for vice president.

Mrs. Peron, 40, said she wanted a few days to consider the nomination but then said Monday she would abide by the Justicialista party's wishes.

Peron, 77, said Sunday he would make his decision after consulting his doctor. He has been suffering from what was officially described as a "flu virus."

President Hector J. Campora, the first civilian president in seven years, resigned July 13 to pave the way for the new elections.

'Lousy' Beef Situation For State's Supermarkets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Supermarkets in New York State reported drastic reductions in beef supplies Monday that may result in empty shelves by next week.

Meanwhile, another wholesaler has laid off some employees and the U.S. Customs Service says more New Yorkers are buying meat in Canada to bring home.

Neil Golub, vice president of the Central Market-Price Chopper chain, which has 35 stores in central and eastern New York and Massachusetts, called the beef situation "lousy."

He estimated that beef supplies for his stores had been cut by as much as 75 per cent and said the stores were operating on a "day-to-day" basis.

James Anderson, sales director for A&P in Albany, said that chain's supply of beef was cut about 70 per cent this week and "it looks like we'll get nothing next week."

At Tobin Packing Co. in Albany a spokesman said the beef coolers are "bare as a whistle." He said the firm had 25 per cent of the normal beef stock last week.

A spokesman for Armour & Co. in Glens Falls said two full-time employees and one part-time worker had been temporarily laid off until Sept. 12, when the price freeze on beef is due to end.

Armour is usually "exceptionally busy" this time of year because of its proximity to resorts, the spokesman said, but the company is down to about 25 per cent of its normal supply of meat from Iowa, Missouri and Texas.

Border inspectors report an increasing number of Americans coming back from Canada with meat purchases, according to W. G. Walker, director of inspection and control for the U.S. Customs Service in Ogdensburg.

"Meat, they tell me, is almost as expensive over there (in Canada) as it is here—that is choice cuts," Walker said. Americans who buy meat in Canada may bring back no more than 50 pounds, and it must be for their own personal use, he said.

The manager of the Gideon Putnam Hotel near Saratoga Springs, which does a thriving business in August, said the hotel has not been hit by a meat shortage but prices are soaring.

Daniel Berry said the hotel was buying more meat now than it ordinarily would in anticipation of a further jump in prices and a possible shortage in four or five weeks. "We wish we had much more freezer space," he added.

Not First Anymore

There was a time when a United States citizen could reflect with pride on his country's destinies and assert that America was the first in almost everything.

Today, as the globe shrinks to insignificant proportions and other nations burgeon forth from days of earlier backwardness, the United States position in several areas is being downgraded.

Statistically speaking, living standards in the United States surpass those of other countries, according to a survey by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD). That is—Americans have more automobiles, televisions, telephones and appliances per person than any other people on earth.

Yet many other nations are catching up and are showing actual superiority in some areas, the survey reveals.

As one example, the jobless rate in Germany—a nation ostensibly beaten to the ground by the end of World War II—is less than one per cent as compared to America's five per cent average.

A midyear economic outlook compiled by OECD indicates that the U. S. and Canada "would be happy" to exchange their high unemployment figures with many of the other 22 countries scrutinized.

Practicing Folk Medicine

The Russian system of folk medicine, including mud and mineral baths are worth trying here, according to Dr. Walter C. McKain, a geriatrist who is chairman of the rural sociology department of the University of Connecticut.

Just returned from the Soviet Union, Dr. McKain was impressed with the treatment particularly of the elderly. In addition to mud and mineral baths, it includes breathing ozone, drinking honey and seawater, acupuncture and hypnosis, among other things.

"It's not the whole answer," Dr. McKain said. "It has to be practiced with ordinary medicine. But I think POLITICAL GIFT DISCLOSURE — John W. Gardner, the former secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, is urging corporate directors to find out if any corporate money was used for political donations and, if so, to compel their executive officers to live up to the law. Gardner now works through Common Cause, the citizen's lobby, which he founded and heads.

An interesting factor in the overall picture is that peoples in some other lands save a higher portion of their net pay than Americans do. The Japanese lead the world, in fact, by "stashing away" 20 per cent of "disposable income," while Americans see fit to apportion a mere seven per cent.

Now comes the news that Russia has the world's top navy, according to Jane's Fighting Ships, a revered publication that examines the world's fleets. It used to be a case of "Britannia Rules the Waves" when Great Britain was in her heyday. Then it was Uncle Sam who wielded total nautical power. Today? The Soviets have evidently outstripped us, while Japan, which little more than 100 years ago was locked in, suspicious and feudal, is without doubt emerging as the earth's leading shipbuilder.

It is all sobering news. Perhaps the United States can comment by way of retort that she stresses quality and inventiveness, but one look at the camera market, for instance, quickly dispels the notion that American equipment is superior to Japanese.

It is probably incumbent upon Americans to give of their best at all times and to remember that complacency can spell death in the vast economic arena that is world trade.

it's worth trying here. The patients get 24 days of rest and regular diet at the spas on the Black Sea, or at forests or mountains, and that would be good for anyone."

As many as 20 per cent of Soviet doctors work in this program. A similar system here would require a government subsidy, he said, but that gets into social medicine and that would be very expensive.

Last month, Dr. McKain guided a group of American specialists on a tour of Soviet health facilities. The group also went to Azerbaidjan, which has a man reputed to be 168 years old.

WASHINGTON — Despite the gasoline shortage and President Nixon's attempt to reduce government fuel consumption by seven per cent, government cars will be using more gas than ever in the year ahead.

The government is also continuing to give away gasoline by the millions of barrels to foreign nations. Documents reveal that in fiscal years 1971 and 1972, the Defense Department gave foreign nations $30 million in grants to purchase 5.1 million barrels of petroleum. The program is continuing.

The General Services Administration has admitted to Rep. Ben Rosenthal, D.N.Y., meanwhile, that government autos were allowed to use 34 million more gallons of gasoline in 1973 than in 1972. GSA projects an increase of 30 million gallons for fiscal year 1974. Since fiscal year 1971, federal vehicles have increased their consumption of gas 40 per cent. FALCON FOOLISHNESS: Earlier this year the pilot of a sleek Lear jet over Georgia suddenly saw a flock of crows dead ahead. "We don't believe we're gonna make it," he shouted to the tower. Instantly later, the jet dove into the roof of an apartment house, killing the plane's seven occupants.

To prevent such disasters, the Federal Aviation Administration uses such things as carbide cannons for frightening birds away. But the birds sit nonchalantly on the cannon, take a few lazy flaps when they hear the activator buzz, then settle back down on the gun barrel after the boom.

The FAA's safety experts know the cannon doesn't work. Nor does anything else. Now, they're studying a novel, new scheme drawn up by one of America's leading falconers.

He is retired Air Force Lt. Col. Richard Graham of Colorado Springs, Colo., who through a Spanish colleague has already tested his ideas on the U.S. Air Force field outside Madrid, Spain.

BIRDS PANIC

In simplest terms, Graham's falcons will fly up to bedevil any flocks of birds that venture near the airports. So panicked are most birds by the peregrine falcons that they flee at the mere sight.

Conservationists like the idea for two reasons. It would build up the dwindling numbers of the beautiful falcons. And the number of birds killed by falcons would be minuscule compared to the mass slaughter of birds recommended by some airport safety men.

Graham's supporters in the FAA would like to test the peregrines at one of several airports, such as busv Newark, which are plagued with the threat of bird-plane collisions.

But the retired colonel, despite encouragement from FAA and support from congressmen and conservationists, has been harassed for two years about his falcons by the Interior Department's fish and wildlife officials.

POLICE RAID

Over a year after Graham brought in 10 peregrine falcons from Spain for breeding, Colorado game police and federal wildlife agents raided his home and grabbed his birds. Graham was on a conservation mission to Greenland at the time. The raiders' threats sent Mrs. Graham to the hospital in a state of collapse. The birds were returned only because their lives were endangered away from Graham's own meticulous care.

Now Customs is trying to assess Graham $7,500 for the birds. And Assistant Interior Secretary Nathaniel Reed is trying to fine him $4,000 for bringing in the birds even though Graham reported their arrival to Customs.

Worse, officials in Reed's office have started a scandalous whispering campaign against the former Air Force hero who won the Distinguished Flying Cross and 13 air medals.

Reed's wildlife enforcement chief, Clark Bayin, accused Graham of "smuggling" in the birds. When he learned we planned to quote him, he protested he did not mean it and conceded later that Graham had notified Customs he was bringing in the birds.

"Some of these people," said Graham wryly, have a police mentality. They said 'frog' and I didn't jump (so) they made a Gestapo raid on my home. They didn't think one individual would fight."

Government Wastes Gasoline

"Like All Our Wines, It Gives You a Harmless Glow!"

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY

If he had lived in the Middle Ages, he'd have been the cause of fratricidal wars. If he had lived in Renaissance Italy, he'd have been burned at the stake for impiety. If the Democrats ever achieve total power, they will no doubt enact a constitutional amendment to permit a bill of attainder, for the purposes of removing the protections of the First Amendment from John D. Lofton Jr.

Mr. Lofton is in the news now because the Republican Party is folding its peppy weekly publication Monday, which Lofton brought to life several years ago, fresh from an apprenticeship as a young journalist in Vermont and Florida. "Sources at the Democratic National Committee," wrote Columnist Richard Starnes last summer, "incline toward melancholy when the subject of Monday is brought up." With good reason.

For one thing there is the quality of tenacity in Lofton. Last summer he put in a call to Charles Guggenheim, producer of occasional epics on any available member of the Kennedy family, and at the time producer of a packaged television life of Candidate George McGovern. Guggenheim's half-hour Lofton wanted to know why panegyric omitted any mention of an entire decade in George McGovern's political life; specifically, the decade during which he backed Henry Wallace for President. Monday transcribed the telephone conversation:

"I don't know," Guggenheim replied (long pause) "... talk to the man who wrote it." When informed that his production manager earlier in the day had said that the omission was a "creative decision" that Guggenheim was "responsible for," Guggenheim hung up the phone. Monday then called back eight times only to have the phone hung up each time after one ring. On the ninth call, the phone rang over fifty times, then was answered by Guggenheim and the dialogue was as follows:

"Guggenheim: 'Captain Dougherty, Third Precinct.'"

"Monday: 'Captain Dougherty, I'd like to speak to your superior to complain about your taking so long to answer my phone. This could have been an emergency and a matter of life and death.'"

"At this point, Guggenheim hung up again."

Another specialty of Editor

Lofton is Perfect Recall. When the New York Times published the Pentagon Papers, receiving them secretly from a source that had been in the government, Lofton came up with a Times editorial on Stewart Alsop, who after the Bay of Pigs published the inside story of the catastrophe, quoting from a secret meeting of the National Security Council.

"The secrecy of one of the highest organs of the United States Government has been seriously breached," groaned the Times. "How can advisers to the President be expected to give advice freely and easily and at all times honestly and with complete integrity if they have to worry about what their arguments will look like in print a few weeks later? What kind of advice can the President expect to get under such circumstances?" You got to be really mean to do that kind of thing.

In the current issue, in our Watergate-besotted summer, Lofton comes up with an old newspaper column by John Roche, former chairman of Americans for Democratic Action and aide to President Lyndon Johnson. "Somehow or other," Roche had written, "we had five speakers primed to reply. Maybe he sent them over as a courtesy, but all I know is that when I innocently inquired how we got them, the reply was 'don't ask.'"

And there is the helpful, gently reproachful Lofton. Writing recently in defense of the Nixon Administration and citing that week's injustice, "But the Indian guns at Wounded Knee" — Newsweek had written — "were also trained on the Nixon Administration, whose bright rhetoric and significant expansion of Indian appropriations have so far done just about nothing to reverse the effects of the white man's 450-year history of mendacity and oppression."

"Now," says Lofton, "the fact of the matter is that just last month the Nixon Administration resubmitted seven key Indian affairs bills to the Democrat-controlled Congress. ... All seven bills have been denied final action by the Democratic Congress during the past two and a half years. ..."

No wonder Guggenheim hung up. No wonder everybody in Washington reads Monday. But the post-Watergate shortage of funds has dried up the liveliest voice in party polemics. But Lofton will ride again — as a syndicated columnist.

The Nation

Viewer's Guide to Watergate

By MARTIN F. NOLAN

WASHINGTON — Since Sam Ervin's gang isn't surrendering to summer reruns just yet, it might be useful to have a viewer's guide, a glimpse of what can be seen by the television camera:

— After the lunch break each day, the senators return with their hair combed, with understandable exception of counsel Sam Dash, and on occasion, Senator Talmadge.

— Talmadge is reputed to be one of the Senate's sharpest interrogators, but his desultoryness may be due to his chairmanship of the Senate Agriculture Committee. When the Senate is debating the farm bill, Watergate becomes the back forty in his mind, to be plowed later.

— Whenever the word "La Costa" is mentioned, it is permissible to visit the refrigerator for another cold one. The Orange County Country Club (financed by the Teamsters) was the site of a political strategy meeting cited several times by John Dean, but the meeting was too large to be truly skullduggery, so witnesses tend to agree on it.

— What may not be noticeable is that this hearing room — unlike so many in the Capitol — is all on one level. The senators are not elevated, the witness is not subjugated and the effect is more theatrical, less judicial.

— Those marvelous chandeliers in the old Caucus Room are defiled by the TV lights and the pillared ionic glory of the room looks like a cathedral used as an invading horde's stable.

— At this point in time, however, the long press tables look more like the parapets of Fort Zinderneuff, the cadavers of "Beau Geste" propped up scribbling slowly after six weeks in this Sahara of amnesia under oath.

— The pencil reporters seem to be suffering more than their TV counterparts. All that stenographic duty is hard on the gluteus maximus, after all, and senators and TV reporters get a chance to stretch their legs occasionally.

— But even the microphone seems heavier now. Dignified Dan Schorr puts on his makeup slowly before going out to do a spot. Carl Stern (a real live lawyer) pores over documents, but they're tired, too. It helps to tell Lesley Stahl that you've been watching her because she's so thorough and competent, then tell Doug Kiker you watch him because he's cute.

— Senator Inouye wins the best-questioner trophy from the Caucus Room regulars because he doesn't wander off into cornpone anecdote. He is serious, he knows it and probably meant it when he followed an Ervin-Baker hoedown by apologizing that he didn't have any stories to tell about down home Hawaii.

— Senator Gurney is known as "Tiger Ed." Senator Montoya is worth watching because he favors props, such as facsimile tapes to brandish to Haldeman, and folks are passing the hat in the Caucus Room to send Sam Dash back to Georgetown U. for a course in syntax.

— Senator Baker eschews Constitutional controversy (except when he has to) and has focused on a single question for each witness: What did the President know and when did he know it? But Baker, the first to confess that he was "tired," admitted to Haldeman that the key to the continuing tragedy-comedy would be a long time coming.

"It's a rather rhetorical question," he sighed, "which alliterates pretty well, but doesn't elicit much information."

ELLENVILLE Ellenville Village Clerk Lillian Finkelstein has been notified of her appointment to the education and public relations committees of the International Institute of Municipal Clerks (IIMC).

The education committee of the IIMC is concerned with the education program carried on by the group for municipal clerks. Mrs. Finkelstein, by participation in the program, has been certified as a municipal clerk by the institute. Mrs. Finkelstein attended the institute's conference in Phoenix, Ariz., in May as a delegate from New York State.

Saugerties Village Board

Recreation Action Is Deferred

SAUGERTIES The Saugerties Village Board deferred action Monday night on the request of a group of Blue Mountain residents to use a piece of village-owned land for a recreation area.

The group, with Mrs. Eunice Ruszyk acting as spokesman, told the board that there were no recreational facilities in the area, which is adjacent to the village's water supply reservoir. They asked about the possibility of leasing the 10-acre parcel owned by the village for possible development of a swimming pool, a golf driving range, and other recreational uses.

Trustee Cal Hackett noted that the village did not own a right-of-way into the parcel and said that the matter would have to be investigated to determine what the village could legally do with the property. Mayor Vernon "Joe" Benjamin said the board would look into the matter and make a decision at its next meeting.

David Bright, chairman of the Environmental Conservation Commission, told the board that a suitable spot was needed for a recycling depot for the commission's program of recovering glass, paper, and other materials. He said a spot at the village landfill would be best.

Board members noted that at the last recycling operation several people brought along trash to dump although the dump was closed, broke bottles against the wall of the house there, and did other damage, but voted to give the commission permission to use the landfill for its next recycling operation on September 8. The board did not go along with the commission's request for a truck and driver to haul away recycled materials and did not grant permission for a private firm to park a truck there to collect paper.

Hackett, the water commissioner, reported that several families in the Town of Saugerties who are buying water from the village have not paid their bills, and that in three cases it was impossible to cut off their water because there were no individual cutoff valves in the privately-owned water systems. The board referred the matter to William Brinnier, village attorney, to learn if there was some other way they could enforce payment of the bills.

The board voted to accept a bid of $9,500 submitted by Ken Smith Machinery Company of Albany for a new roller for the public works department. The bid, the only one received, quoted a delivered price of $11,305 and gave the village $1,805 credit for its present roller.

The board heard a letter from Brinnier and Larios, the village's engineering consultants, saying they had investigated a complaint about sewage backing up in the Gordon Martin home on Dock Street. The engineers reported that the home's drainage system was properly installed above the sewer main but that heavy runoff of rain introduced into the sewer during wet weather put the system under pressure. They suggested that the family install either a check valve or gate valve to cut off the flowback.

The board heard a letter from Dr. Grant Morse complaining that large trucks were speeding up to 75 miles an hour on Ulster Avenue at night. Benjamin said the police department had checked speeds there with radar and that trucks were not exceeding the legal limit.

Trustee Jim Luther introduced a motion to have Village Clerk James Gage make a review of the village's ordinances and make recommendations to the board for the elimination of outdated or obsolete ordinances.

New Paltz Controversy

Group Plans Zoning Suit

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ A group of New Paltz citizens, calling themselves the Concerned Citizens for Controlled Growth (CCCG), announced at a press conference in New Paltz Monday that they would go to court to change town zoning and to halt two proposed shopping centers if town officials failed to open a "dialog" with the CCCG.

Doing the talking at the press conference were CCCG members Chet Mirsky, Jack Weiner, George Wexler, Ralph Kulseng, and John Logan. Logan and Kulseng are prominent Democrats in New Paltz, but Mirsky denied that the CCCG was at all partisan, being instead a "taxpayers and homeowners' group."

The New York State Grange, celebrating its 100th anniversary this year, will be a major feature of the Ulster County Fair when it opens Friday at the Ulster County Fairgrounds on Libertyville Road in New Paltz, according to fair manager Douglass Bartow.

The Grange, with a theme "101 Years of Unity," will have seven senior and three junior Granges exhibiting at the fair. The Grange, which began as a social organization for rural people, calls itself "The only family fraternity in America."

Bartow said the Ulster County Grange exhibit is a major one, and the equal of those at the larger Dutchess and Orange County Fairs.

Bartow said the same claim can be made for the sheep exhibit at the Ulster fair. There were about 180 sheep at last year's fair, and Bartow said about 200 sheep, both 4H and open class, were expected to take part in the exhibition and judging at this year's fair.

Demonstrations will also be held at the fair in sheep shearing, and the carding and spinning of the wool that is shorn.

The fair will be open through Sunday. In addition to the regular features of the fair, this year's fair has rides in a hot air balloon, and a balloon race, a rock band, square dancing, a magic show, rides and amusements, exhibitions by the Association of Native Americans, and a large art show on its schedule.

Applications and further information may be obtained at the office of the Civil Service Commission, 1 Meadow Street, Kingston.

According to the CCCG spokesmen, the group will ask the town board at its Wednesday night meeting to "take appropriate action" concerning the planned unit development (PUD) and variable density residential (RV) sections of town zoning, and halt the approval of the proposed Shop-Rite and Tri-State Shopping Centers on Route 299 in New Paltz.

The CCCG members said if they did not get the response they wanted Wednesday they would go to court to seek to get the PUD and RV sections declared "null and void," and to get an injunction against the building of the Shop-Rite and Tri-State shopping centers.

According to Jack Weiner, a New Paltz attorney who is doing the legal work free for the CCCG, the court will be asked to strike down the PUD and RV sections on the basis of conflicts of interest of some of the town officials in on the decision making when the sections were passed, and the bad effect the sections have on the rest of the zoning ordinance.

Mirsky said having the present PUD and RV sections in the ordinance meant the town had no zoning at all. PUDs and RVs can be placed anywhere in the town, under the present ordinance, if specified criteria are met. Mirsky said what the town now had was not zoning, but "radical planning."

Weiner said the injunction against the building of the shopping centers would be asked for on the basis of irreparable and immediate harm if the shopping centers are built. The CCCG believes there is no need for the centers, saying there is vacant commercial space and empty motel rooms in New Paltz as it is. Worse than that, according to the CCCG, the traffic the centers will generate will further clog New Paltz' already-jammed section of Route 299.

The Shop-Rite center has already received conditional approval of the town planning board. A zoning change for the Tri-State center has been granted by the town board over the objections of the Ulster County Planning Board; the site plan and the necessary sewer and water districts have not been approved.

Mirsky said the residents of New Paltz were having their property depreciated in value by "artificial growth," which he defined as "growth without actual need."

Logan said the cost of providing municipal services for the proposed increased growth would outstrip any advantages in a broadened tax base.

He also said having PUD and RV sections on the books, allowing these developments to be placed anywhere in the town, gave New Paltz a potential population of 385,000, not the 43,000 Planning Board Chairman Dr. David Mesches said certain zoning changes recently proposed by his board would limit New Paltz to.

Logan was also critical of those changes proposed by the planning board, saying they would be a hardship on local developers, encourage building by a mammoth outside developers, and should allow more density, not less, in the area around the village.

A further disadvantage of PUDs, according to the CCCG, is that it allows land not suitable for development, such as flood plain and swamp land, to be included as open space in the PUD, making it just as valuable as good building land.

The group is circulating a petition in support of their aims in New Paltz. Those signing it will state their "wish to preserve the character of our town and to avoid unnecessary traffic congestion, noise, air, and water pollution, and the spoilage of our open lands and streams."

The CCCG will hold an open public meeting the night of Aug. 23, at a place and time to be announced.

Logan said the CCCG was not a "one issue" group, and would be addressing itself to additional matters in the future.

Reputed Crime Gang Head Is Sentenced for Perjury

NEW YORK (AP) — Vincent Aloï, reputed acting head of the Colombo crime family, today was sentenced to up to seven years in prison on a perjury conviction for lying to a grand jury investigating the slaying of rival gang leader Joseph (Crazy Joe) Gallo.

Aloï, who was found guilty after a four-day trial on June 26, appeared in Supreme Court in Manhattan for sentencing by Justice John M. Murtagh.

The judge told the 40-year-old defendant, "I cannot look lightly on this offense."

He then imposed an indeterminate sentence with a seven-year maximum, stipulating that Aloï must serve at least two years and four months.

Murtagh went on, "The service of a lesser period would not conform to the requirements of justice. The period to be served should be much closer to the maximum."

The judge also said the evidence at the trial showed that Aloï "was very clearly in the apartment" at 101 Gedney St., Nyack, N.Y., where the prosecution contended the death of Gallo was planned in retaliation for the shooting of Joseph Colombo Sr. in June, 1971.

Gallo was executed April 7, 1972 at Umberto's Clam House on the lower East Side, about a half-mile from the courthouse at 100 Centre Street, where Aloï was sentenced today.

Project "Intake" . . .

It's only been two months since the Intensive Intake Project of the Ulster County Probation Department began. This enables the Probation Department to immediately start a treatment plan for a juvenile who finds himself in difficulty (for the first time) that might result in being referred to Family Court.

One part of a program that has been very successful is getting these first time juveniles part-time jobs, such as cutting lawns or washing windows.

The Probation Department is making a major effort in finding such jobs.

Final Phase IV Regulations Listed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Cost of Living Council announced today most of the administration's final Phase IV regulations and said firms will be able to raise some prices 10 per cent or more starting as early as next week.

The council said companies with annual sales of $100 million or more would have to give 30 days notice before raising prices above base levels.

Firms with sales under $100 million a year can raise prices starting Sunday without advance notification to the government.

Council Director John T. Dunlop emphasized that companies could raise prices over-all only to the extent of their increased costs. But he said that on individual items, prices could be raised as much as 10 per cent, plus increased costs.

Dunlop told a news conference that the new regulations cover all sectors of the economy governed by the price control program, except for food, petroleum, insurance, construction and health. They will go into effect Sunday at the end of the current price freeze imposed by Nixon June 13.

Mandatory health regulations of Phase III were reinstituted July 19, and Phase IV regulations for some foods had been announced already. Others, including removal of the beef price freeze, will go into effect Sept. 12.

Dunlop said regulations for insurance and petroleum would be issued later this week and modified health regulations will be developed late this year.

YALLUM'S IS OPEN!

It's the old Yallum's crew (with some new additions) at the old address, 317 Wall St. in uptown Kingston. But it's a brand new store, 11,000 square feet of space in a four-level building designed by Architect George V. Hutton Jr. and translated from his blueprints into a reality of masonry and brick and bluestone.

We're proud of the building, and we've stocked it with the fine lines of merchandise and the hot new styles you've always expected to find at Yallum's. That bright new building that seemed so huge is now crammed with suits and sports jackets and slacks; shirts, ties and outerwear; shoes for the whole family. The legend around town is that many of our customers have just been "going without" since that Halloween fire put us out of business. They've been patching the jeans and wearing the sneakers with holes. That's incomparable loyalty, and we thank this community for the support and love expressed to us through the months.

It's good to be back. We open at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Special Entertainment Slated for German Alps Festival

An 11-piece oompah band, 14 Schuhplattlers (folk dancers), two Alpine horn players, and two woodcarvers are all coming from West Germany's Bavaria to participate daily at the new German Alps Festival in the Catskills.

The festival, which will be held on the 110-acre Bavarian Manor grounds at Purling, N.Y., is set for August 17 through 26. Purling is six miles west of N.Y. Thruway Exit 21 on Route 23. It is also known as the German resort area of the Catskills.

The oompah band comes from Willing, Bavaria and the schuhplattlers — the GETV Edelweiss group — come from nearby Bad Abiling. The dancers appeared last year at the Barnesville, Pa., Bavarian Summer Festival. The two Alpine horn players are Adolf Kierweg of Frasdorf and Franz Xaver Stadler of Grainbach.

Besides the Willing band, there will also be German bands from New York and musicians will also be part of the scene along with other entertainment features including a soccer tournament and amusement rides for the youngsters. Dancers from the Germania Almrausch, Poughkeepsie, will also perform on the weekends.

Emil Kronschnabl of Lautenbach and Gustl Eich of Gstadt/Chiemsee, are the talented woodcarvers coming from Germany to head the list of area craftsmen who will be working daily. Besides the crafts, other areas of interest will include the many import gift shops and clothing stores.

The feature attraction will be the huge, new tent complete with decorations that will seat 3,000. The Alpine gardens and the wine cellar, all complete with music, will add the Oktoberfest spirit. Foods will be prepared by German chefs and cooks. And a colorful coffee shop with its own outdoor garden will be another feature.

Rip Van Winkle, along with area officials, will be on hand to tap the first keg on the 17th. Rip will stay on for the rest of the fest to help entertain young and old as will Ross the Magician.

There's a lot of talk about higher interest rates. We'd like to give you the facts. Many area banks, like Rondout National, have announced increased interest rates on certificates of deposit and special savings plans. But many of these banks are not paying 5% interest on regular savings accounts.

We're the only bank that's compounding interest daily on regular day of deposit to day of withdrawal savings accounts. Our method and rate of compounding makes your money grow faster... turning your 5% interest into an annual effective yield of 5.13%.

And with our Regular Savings Accounts, which are solely day of deposit to day of withdrawal accounts, there are no minimum deposit requirements... or 90 day notice for withdrawals. Your money earns the most interest... every day it's in the bank.

Those are the facts. So, to have your savings earn more interest... open your savings account today. At the only area bank that's compounding interest daily on all regular savings accounts.

Saugerties Oldtimers Day Promises to Be a Real Bash

SAUGERTIES Oldtimers Day will turn the clock back Saturday to throw one of the biggest oldtime parties this area has ever seen.

The bash is called Saugerties Oldtimers Day. Forty community organizations and 106 businesses will participate in a day-long festival that will bring back memories of the gay '90's, the roaring '20's, and everything in between.

The idea was conceived by Bea Bright of the Bee Ver House, and is sponsored by the Saugerties Business Associates. By the time they're finished Saturday night, there might be more than a few party-goers who'd just as soon forget all about the calamitous '70's.

Saturday will see the streets and sidewalks of Saugerties lined with more than 40 booths and exhibits, all decked out in a festive old time motif. The event will officially begin at 10 a.m., although train rides and an excursion on an old time fire truck will begin an hour earlier.

The events planned for Saturday are almost too numerous to mention... almost.

The most popular feature of this day-long festival may well take place inside the bars and taverns of Saugerties. Several times during the day, a gong or bell will be sounded announcing free beers on the scheduled. Square dancing at the municipal parking lot from 7 to 9 p.m. and an oldtime sing-along will round out the evening's entertainment.

Food and refreshments, naturally, will be included. Sidewalk cafes will be set up at strategic points in the village, and several of the churches in town plan family suppers that night.

Among the sidewalk demonstrations planned for Saturday's event are glassblowing, candle dipping, weaving and wood carving.

Music will play an important role in the Oldtimers Day celebration. The Amerscot Highland Pipers Band will entertain for a time, and when they're finished music will be supplied by Papa Bear's Dixieland Band.

Banjo strummer Pete Mathews will entertain, and a barbershop quartet songfest is scheduled. Square dancing at the municipal parking lot from 7 to 9 p.m. and an oldtime sing-along will round out the evening's entertainment.

Food and refreshments, naturally, will be included. Sidewalk cafes will be set up at strategic points in the village, and several of the churches in town plan family suppers that night.

Since the theme of Saturday's event is the days gone by, it would certainly be appropriate to line up some oldtimers and have them reminisce about the by-gone days. That's exactly what will take place on the lawn of the Old Dutch Church.

There is also a search on for the oldest oldtimer still living in Saugerties. Candidates must have been born in Saugerties.

lived there all their life, and antique cars and other memorabilia, along with bands and costumed marchers, will step off at 11 a.m. when Mayor Joseph Benjamin and Supervisor A. Michael Schovel snip the ribbon at the corner of Main and Partition Streets, proclaiming this as the first of the Oldtimers Day festivals.

Three prizes will be awarded during the day: for best costume, best booth and best automobile. A grand prize will be awarded at the close of the day's festivities at 11 p.m.

In addition to Mrs. Bright, who first posed the idea to the Saugerties Business Associates, Ann Rook, the association's president and Joan Feldman, have headed the promotion committee that has received the enthusiastic support of virtually every business and civic organization in the community.

"The cooperation has been fantastic," said Mrs. Bright, "everyone has gotten together for this project." Part of the reason, she explained, is the increasing emphasis on the 1976 bicentennial celebration, and the tendency of both individuals and communities to pause for a moment's reflection on more simple times, when day-to-day existence wasn't at all taken for granted.

So Saugerties has the nostalgia craze, and when a whole community gets the bug, you can bet it will be an occasion long remembered.

Store Specials Set

SAUGERTIES It will be a special day—and a day of specials—when Saugerties businessmen celebrate Oldtimers Day on Saturday.

Of the 106 business firms that will be participating in the day-long extravaganza, most will offer special 1920's discounts, and feature merchandise and service reminiscent of more relaxed days.

As an example, Ye Inquizzative Shop, located at 82 Partition Street, will have for sale reproductions of an 1881 panoramic lithograph of the Village of Saugerties.

Resembling a present day aerial view of the Saugerties are, the lithograph was first produced by H. H. Crowley and Co. of Hartford, Conn., and shows the village from the southeast, with the Catskill Mountains in the background.

Twenty-five stores, churches and schools are distinguishable in the lithograph. In addition to the 26 inch by 24 inch reproductions, the original lithograph will also be offered for sale.

Other businesses, too, will offer something special to coincide with the Oldtimers Day celebration.

The Bee Ver House will feature handmade bayberry candles at 1920's prices. An exhibition of candle dipping will be presented throughout the day.

Openings In Course At UCCC

STONE RIDGE Only four places still are available for the fall semester in the two-year Accounting program offered by Ulster County Community College, according to Charles Schenck, director of admissions.

It still is not too late for persons interested in enrolling in this program, but Schenck advises them to act now to guarantee getting a place in the degree program.

Interested individuals may contact Schenck in the Admissions Office, Vanderlyn Hall, on the Stone Ridge campus.

Schenck reports there is greater interest in the accounting program now because businesses have a greater need for employees with an accounting background. The degree program can be used either as a preparation for direct entry into a responsible position in business, government, or industry, or as preparation for further study leading to the baccalaureate degree at a four-year college.

The Buttonhole at 81 Partition Street will feature a variety of buttons at three cents apiece, as well as a wide selection of hem facings, elastics by the yard, fabrics and, of course, some genuine oldtime service.

Berzal Pontiac-Oldsmobile will do grease jobs for 25 cents throughout the day, provided the coin is any 1940 series quarter.

Londons in Saugerties will feature a suffragettes fashion show in the store window at 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Wash cloths, towels and dish cloths, will be offered at 1920's prices, and all the Londons sales personnel will be dressed in old time apparel.

Smith Hardware will feature a display of oldtime tools in its Main Street store.

The money raised during Saturday's event will be used in the restoration of the Old Sawyer Mill in Seamon Park.

For the past several years, the energetic Little Sawyer Association has attempted to restore the crumbling mill.

The Sawyer Mill was built 310 years ago at the base of a rugged cliff in what is now Seamon Park. It is reported that the mill was in operation as few as 60 years ago, with farmers from throughout the area carting their grain to the site for custom grinding.

The last half-century, however, has seen the mill fall into disrepair. It is the intent of the Little Sawyer Association to reconstruct the mill and install as much as possible of the original machinery. The group also plans to build walkways and foot paths along the rugged cliffsides to the mill.

So Saturday's Oldtimers Day celebration has a two-fold purpose: to entertain residents of the area with a day-long festival of oldtime arts, crafts and entertainment, and to help in the eventual restoration of one of Saugerties most cherished relics.

THE DANGER OF POLIO IN 1973

Twenty years ago the hot summer months brought the fear of polio to every parent. And now, in 1973, in spite of the availability of an easy to administer and effective vaccine against polio, one out of every three children in the 1-4 year old age group has not been immunized.

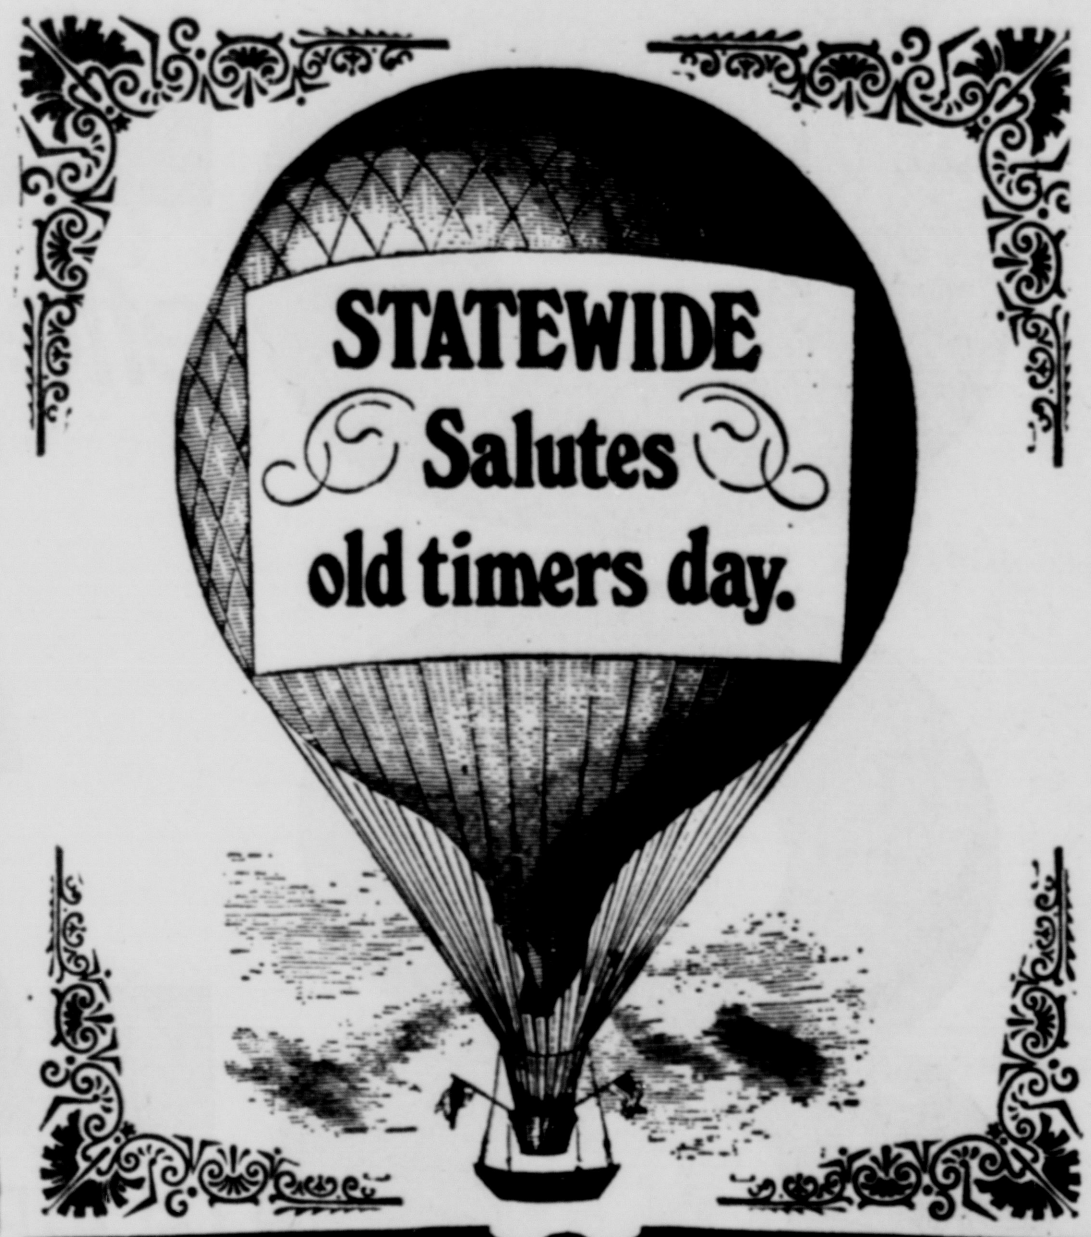

With the development of the oral dosage, Sabin vaccine, protection can be obtained without any discomfort. It is administered on a sugar cube or a few flavored drops are put into the child's mouth. Only by being sure that all children are immunized can we be certain this dread disease will remain dormant.

Two generations later, Saugerties Savings was launched, and we've steered our share of resourceful savers to home port.

Area Hospitals Changing Menus

KINGSTON — The current shortage of meat and the drastic jump in the prices of all foods is beginning to affect both the menus and the food budgets of all area hospitals.

But, patients are not complaining, according to Robert Maleonskie, food service manager at Northern Dutchess Hospital. "The patients are just happy to be getting any meat at all," he said.

Kingston, Benedictine and Northern Dutchess Hospital report that they all buy their meat from a local wholesaler and that beginning last week, because of meat shortages adjustments had to be made on menus, with last minute substitutions of one meat for another. All the hospitals have what are termed "selective" menus, of two to four choices each.

And, if adjustments have to be made to menus, so too will there have to be adjustments to the hospital budgets due to the sharp rise in food prices.

"The prices are sky-high and my food budget is down the drain," declared Jean Harvey, dietician at Kingston Hospital, who said that even "perimeter proteins" such as eggs and chicken are also quite expensive. Chicken has doubled in price, she explained, saying that she has added fish to the menus as a substitute.

All hospitals, including Benedictine, said they are operating on a day-to-day basis. Gerard Nocton, assistant administrator said that the Benedictine menu was first affected last Friday and that because menus are printed well in advance, the hospital has added little explanatory notes to them, if a meat substitution is necessary. It was pointed out that one type of meat is sometimes being substituted for another rather than non-meat substitutions being made for meat.

Northern Dutchess reports that so far it has had enough meat to supply the hospital but it has been warned by its supplier that the meat shortage may worsen. Maleonskie said he has tried other meat houses but that the quality has been poor in comparison with the local wholesaler.

Ellenville Hospital buys from three sources, according to Nicholas Parrotta, food manager, who said that as of Oct. 1, the hospital menu will be changed "just because of prices." More casseroles and less meat will be served if the shortage continues, he said. Ellenville is supplied with its menu by Service Systems which plans menus with its own staff of dieticians. Because of that fact, menus are planned well in advance and it will mean additional time will be needed before the new menus will be implemented.

Parrotta said that so far it has not been necessary to use substitutions on the Ellenville menu but that the hospital has been having trouble getting lamb.

Nocton reports that Benedictine has been caught in a squeeze under the Phase III economic plan which prohibits the raising of hospital prices while the hospital meanwhile suffers from increased prices for its purchases.

Miss Harvey also reports a shortage of canned foods and wonders when school opens in the fall if the education al institutions re-establishing school lunch menus, won't have a greater effect on the food shortage.

Meanwhile, the American Hospital Association, which made a spot check of hospitals across the country reports that it has called upon the American Meat Institute and the National Association of Meat Purveyors to give hospitals top priority in distribution of beef supplies.

Most hospitals surveyed said they could not predict the availability of their supply of meat beyond a few days since prices and supplies fluctuate so drastically with the meat purveyors.

Environmental Committee To Aid With Tree Planting

RHINEBECK — Central Hudson will be cooperating with the village in removing overhead electric wires along the north side of East Market Street and placing a cable underground. Elmer Crans of Central Hudson reportedly told VEC members that the company would undertake that project as the first step toward removing all visual problems.

The VEC members have also been instrumental in bringing numerous public trash containers to the business area, brought by businesses, in an effort to keep streets clean of debris. The village still needs more containers, according to Village Board member Eugene Trombini.

With all of the tribulations borne by the people in this village attributed to leaves and trees, they apparently are intent upon keeping Rhinebeck's leafy image intact.

The Visual Environmental Committee (VEC) has decided to cooperate with the village once again in planting trees along downtown streets, replacing the parking meters that will be removed shortly.

It is not the first time such cooperation was forthcoming, as honey locust trees were planted last autumn on Mill Street and there are plans to continue that effort along Montgomery Street (Route 9 north).

And it was announced that

A thoughtful investment.

Perhaps you've been looking at various ways of putting money away for a youngster's future. Have you considered a custodial savings account, with its tax advantages? A custodial account provides a better way than most investments of making money grow. Unlike the stock market, for example, its growth depends solely on you. And, unlike insurance, it earns an excellent rate of interest—at Heritage, the highest interest rate permitted for banks by law. And this interest is tax-free for you as guardian.

These accounts are available at any time for the benefit of the young people through their early years. Then, at age 21, the accounts automatically become theirs, to provide for their future and stand as a reminder of your wisdom and foresight.

Makes sense, doesn't it? Come in to Heritage and discuss how a custodial account can help you achieve your aims. It's a wise and thoughtful investment.

Share of UCCC Budget Increased for County

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — With projected tuition and state aid to Ulster County Community College decreased for the 1973-74 school year, the county's share of the proposed $3.5 million budget will be increased by $74,731, according to the report of the Board of Trustees.

And, although the proposed budget is $67,294 higher than the $3,512,026 approved for 1972-73, that increase is one of the smallest in the history of the college.

The county's share of the proposed $3,579,320 budget is 29.2 per cent or $1,044,848. Tuition amounts to $910,812, or 25.5 per cent, a decrease of $34,640. It is estimated that 1,526 students will be enrolled or 88 less than last year's total of 1,614.

The remainder of the revenues will come from federal aid in the amount of $106,363, an increase of $47,063 and from out of county tuition and other revenues totaling $322,800, a decrease of $17,339 for a total estimated revenue of $3,579,320.

Total estimated appropriations amount to $3,579,320 allocated as follows: Instruction, $1,760,510; extension and public service, $7,285; library, $142,666; student services, $233,795; maintenance and operation, $407,303; general administration, $256,924; general institutional service, $225,237 and employee benefits, $545,600.

A public hearing on the tentative budget will be held Thursday at 4:15 p.m. at the County Office Building in the legislative chambers.

The Ulster County Legislature will meet in executive session at 2 p.m. prior to the public hearing, to discuss the UCCC budget, which it has had in its possession about two weeks.

The college board of trustees has already unanimously recommended that the budget package be approved and passed it on to the Legislature's Community College Committee for review.

It is anticipated that the Legislature will act on the budget at its 8 p.m. session Thursday although no resolution has been filed to that effect as yet.

Since 1967, but excluding this year, the UCCC operating budgets have zoomed in cost with the 1967-68 budget totaling as "only" $1.1 million. In 1972-73 it had reached $2.8 and then jumped another $700,000 in the three-year period prior to 1973-74.

Since 1967, the annual college budget has increased by about $500,000 each year.

The 331-page budget for 1973-74 indicates that the following appropriations have been adopted by the trustees: Humanities, $341,431; Department of Public Service, $32,900 and provision for personnel service, $2,000.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices pushed higher today in a carryover of Monday's modest afternoon gain.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up nearly a point with advancing issues moderately leading decliners on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said major factors in the market today were the closure of investigations into activities of Vice-President Spiro Agnew, a lower dollar in European money markets, and continued concern over higher interest rates. Other brokers insisted, however, that investors had discounted these negative factors.

Benguet led trading on the Big Board, up 1/4 to 5, followed by RCA, up 1/2 to 25 1/2, Gulf Oil, unchanged at 22 1/2, and Boeing, down 1/4 to 15 1/4.

The Dow Jones industrial average closed Monday up 3.91, after being down nearly four points in sluggish, early-session trading. A few more issues advanced than declined. Volume on the Big Board was 12.32 million shares.

Dollar Gains on Pound

LONDON (UPI) — The U.S. dollar lost value against the German mark and the Swiss franc today, but gained a fraction of a cent against the British pound.

The announcement by Vice-President Spiro Agnew that he was under investigation for "possible violation of criminal statutes" apparently had little effect on the beleaguered U.S. currency.

In Frankfurt, where the dollar gained value on Monday, it slipped slightly in what traders described as "unusually hectic" trading. The dollar opened at 2.38 marks to the dollar, against 2.385 marks at closing Monday. Monday's close was the best performance in three weeks. Later the dollar fell further to 2.3730 marks.

Money dealers offered no explanation for the heavy trading, or the reversal of the dollar's fortunes against the mark.

The dollar also lost value in Zurich, falling to 2.8583 francs from Monday's close of 2.866, and in Amsterdam, where it fell by a quarter of a percentage point overnight to 2.6035 guilders. It remained steady in Paris and Stockholm.

In London, the British pound opened at $2.49125, compared to $2.4975 at the close of trading Monday. But as the trading day wore on, the dollar dropped back slightly to $2.4968 a pound.

Jamboree

Surrounded in a sea of scouts is Terence Cardinal Cook, (R-center) Archdiocese of New York, as he administers communion to scouts attending the National Scout Jamboree-East. Some 13,000 attended the service and over 10,000 are at the camp. The jamboree, held in Pennsylvania, will go on through Thursday of this week. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Boy Scout Jamboree... Military Type Operation

MORaine STATE PARK, Pa. (AP) — The national Boy Scout Jamboree, the biggest in history, never sleeps. It's a military type operation costing $6.2 million for food and supplies for 66,000 scouts and their leaders. "We go 24 hours a day," says Claude C. Lapsley, the Jamboree's commissary manager, who began shopping the United States 13 months ago. "Today I sleep right in my office, on a cot and usually not more than three or four hours a night." The scouts and their leaders — 40,000 at Moraine and 26,000 more at Farragut State Park, Idaho — are supported by a total staff of 10,300. They go full steam from 7 a.m. until 11 p.m., enjoying all the fun of camping during the gathering that ends Tuesday in the West and Thursday in the East. "Though Jamboree activities last just a week, they actually cover 11 days," says Lapsley. He explained it took two days to get the scouts into their multi-colored tent-cities and will take two more to get them on their way home.

Scouts pay $75 each to attend, not counting their transportation.

Every night while they sleep, 22 forty-foot trailers here and another 15 at Farragut truck in the day's supplies.

Special walk-in type refrigerator units keep the meat and dairy products cool until the scout "chefs for the day" arrive to obtain their meal supplies.

For one meal, for instance, 23,000 trout will be served and another 38,000 pounds of steak will be broiled in half pound portions.

"It isn't easy to do," Lapsley admits. "It takes months to plan, then it's all over so fast."

Among more than 65 different items purchased were 85,000 loaves of bread, 70,000 pounds of butter, 498,000 eggs, enough hot dogs and knockwurst to stretch 33 miles end to end, 85,000 pre-cooked chickens, 1,600 tons of cans, jars and boxes that would reach 30 miles into the sky if piled on top of each other and 3.5 million glasses of milk.

Also, a million oranges, 52,000 apples, 35,000 heads of lettuce, 72,000 tomatoes, 12,500 peaches, 45,000 pint bottles of pancake syrup, 14,000 pounds of bologna, 268,000 bags of potato chips, 50,000 cup cakes, 325 tons of charcoal for cooking that filled 18 freight cars, 2 million paper napkins and 2.1 million plastic cups.

For Moraine the total bill for food and supplies came to $3.9 million. It was $2.3 million in Farragut.

Interested in a typical menu for one day? Here's what the scouts get:

Breakfast — orange juice, cold cereal, French toast with bread, syrup, butter, milk cocoa. Lunch — two slices of bologna, lettuce and tomatoes, bread, syrup, butter, milk, cookies and milk. Dinner — A leg, wing and breast of chicken, instant mashed potatoes, peas, celery, cranberry sauce, bread and butter, sherbet and milk.

Home Freezer Sales Booming

NEW YORK (AP) — A rush to stock up on meat and other food items has set off booming sales and some shortages of home freezers, according to appliance manufacturers and retailers.

The result, appliance men say, is that now a consumer in the market for a freezer is often faced with a choice—he can pick from whatever models the retailer still has in stock, or wait 30 days or more for an order to be filled for the specific size and type of freezer he wants.

Nevertheless, industry observers add, the demand continues high for freezers among consumers worried about the future prices and availability of beef and other foods.

"There is a real run on freezers," says a spokesman for Sears, Roebuck & Co., the nation's biggest retailer of home appliances. "They are still selling at a tremendous rate. It's beyond what your normal summer sales would be."

An official of Westinghouse Electric says: "One of our dealers had a call from a customer who said, 'Send me a freezer.' He didn't care whether it was frost-free, upright, chest or self draining."

Summer is traditionally a strong selling season for freezers, but this year's demands caught appliance manufacturers and dealers by surprise. Manufacturers generally say they expect to be operating at full capacity through September to fill current backorders.

Montgomery Ward, the Chicago-based chain, has more than doubled its sales on all freezer models during the last three months and has nearly exhausted its inventories, according to a spokesman. Montgomery Ward is currently promising a three to four week delivery on freezers.

A MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT "BEEF ACTION" PROGRAM

WE MET A LOT OF NEW CUSTOMERS...

As a result...in some of our stores, a normal week's supply of beef was sold in just a few days — even though our "Beef Action" Program allowed us to obtain better-than-normal quantities of beef. Our "Beef Action" Program...whereby we buy beef directly from the ranch...is still working to keep beef in our stores...while Government ceilings remain on beef.

You can help us make the supply go round. This week, buy the meat you need for now, don't overstock...and we'll continue working to keep beef in our stores.

Tigers' Win: A Shocker

DETROIT (AP)—Aurelio Rodriguez was in a daze.

But the affable Detroit Tiger third baseman, a hero Monday night, wasn't the only one in a state of shock.

Most of the persons in the near capacity crowd of 51,001 at Tiger Stadium, and many in the national television audience, probably pinched themselves to make sure they weren't dreaming.

Was the confused 10th inning finish of Detroit's 5-4 victory over the New York Yankees, in which Rodriguez scored from first base on an Ed Brinkman bunt, for real?

How about the Tigers' three-run rally in the ninth, climaxed by pinch hitter Frank Howard's two-run homer off ace reliever Sparky Lyle which sent the game into extra innings tied 4-4?

Those things must have really happened, for the Tigers climbed back into first place in the frantic American League East race for the first time since late June.

Tigers in First

Detroit, which has won 11 of 13 games since the All-Star break, holds a one-half game edge over Baltimore and a one game lead over New York and Boston heading into today's twilight doubleheader against AL West Division leader Oakland.

New York, which is home tonight against Texas, lost three of four to Detroit before a record Tiger Stadium fourth game series total of 184,629 spectators.

Monday's outcome concluded a disastrous road trip for the Yankees. They lost nine of 11.

"We were lucky to get this one," Tiger Manager Billy Martin said after the latest triumph, "but New York was lucky to get its victory Saturday."

No Luck Here

But the bottom of the 10th inning didn't begin with luck. Rodriguez opened it with a solid single off Lyle. Then Brinkman laid down his bunt and here's what happened:

Lyle fielded it, saw he had no play on Rodriguez at second base, then turned towards first.

Second baseman Horace Clarke was slow getting to the bag and, after hesitating, Lyle finally threw the ball.

It went wide of the bag and rolled foot toward the right field stands, where Felipe Alou picked it up.

Rodriguez had reached third by then and would have held up but Alou's throw home skipped past catcher Thurman Munson's glove and rolled toward third.

Rodriguez dashed home. Munson chased the ball. But finally third baseman Graig Nettles threw it to first baseman Matty Alou covering the plate.

Out, Then Safe

Although umpire Red Flaherty's arm went up to signal Rodriguez out, it quickly came down as Alou couldn't hang onto the ball. Aurelio slid in head first.

Rodriguez just lay on the plate with a smile on his face until his teammates rushed from the dugout to mob and cheer him.

Lyle and Felipe Alou were the only players given errors.

"That was the damndest last two minutes of a ball game I've ever seen!" exclaimed Jim Campbell, Tiger general manager.

"It was like everyone rushing from a bawdy house at the same time," joked bullpen coach Charlie Silvera.

"I wanted to bunt to first but it went to the mound instead," Brinkman explained. "The next thing I knew the ball was going past me at first and I just kept going."

Tired

Rodriguez was tired from his baserunning feat.

"I ran enough. I laid there for a rest," the curly-haired Mexican said of his face-down siesta at the plate.

He said he ran home on his own without seeing third base coach Joe Schultz.

"I no see nobody. I see the ball going to third base and I decide to go home," Rodriguez said. "You can't see a coach on a play like that."

Mickey Stanley started the ninth-inning Tiger rally with a double off starter Mel Stottlemyre. Gates Brown lined out and Willie Horton singled.

Lyle, who lost his eighth game against four victories, came in and got pinch hitter Al Kaline to hit into a force out. It scored Stanley and the Yankees were but one out from moving into first place.

Then the 6-foot-7, 275-pound Howard batted for Norm Cash and parked a Lyle slider into the lower deck in left field for his eighth homer.

Miller Wins It

Bob Miller, who won his fourth game in five decisions, gave up only a walk in the Yankee 10th to finish with a one-hit relief job in 3 1-3 innings.

Mike Strahler started and was staked to a 1-0 lead when leftfielder Brown hit a wrong-field home run in the fourth. It was his first homer ever to left field in Tiger Stadium.

New York went ahead 2-1 in the sixth when Ron Blomberg's liner bounced over rightfielder Jim Northrup's head for a two-run double.

The Yanks scored two more in the seventh on an RBI single by Clarke and a double by Roy White.

Boston 5, Orioles 3

The Orioles were knocked out of first place, 5-3, by Boston's unbeaten, 23-year-old lefthander Roger Moret, who posted his fifth victory of the season with relief help from Bob Bolin.

The Cleveland Indians beat the Chicago White Sox 7-3 in the only other American League game.

In National League action, the New York Mets beat the St. Louis Cardinals 10-3, the Houston Astros edged the Cincinnati Reds 5-4, the Montreal Expos topped the Chicago Cubs 7-3 and the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the San Diego Padres 2-0.

Indians 7, White Sox 3

Chris Chambliss' two-run double capped a five-run second-inning outburst that lifted the Indians to a 7-3 decision over the White Sox.

Gaylord Perry, 11-15, went all the way for the victory, giving up five hits.

Mets 10, Cards 3

Harry Parker pitched three scoreless innings of relief, working out of trouble twice, and picked up the win when the Mets rallied for three runs in the seventh and five in the eighth to beat the Cardinals 10-3.

"We played like we were in a daze," said Lou Brock after the Cardinals, the National League's East Division leaders, committed three errors and misplayed a number of other chances.

Astros 5, Reds 4

Jimmy Wynn, who just got over an 0-for-32 skid, rapped out two singles, scored three runs, stole two bases and drove home the tie-breaking run in Houston's 5-4 triumph over the Reds.

Expos 7, Cubs 3

Balor Moore pitched six innings of no-hit ball in Montreal's 7-3 triumph, but Mike Marshall had to come on in the eighth and picked up his 22nd save of the year.

Ken Singleton, Bob Bailey and Jim Little homered for Montreal.

Dodgers 2, Padres 0

Al Downing, 9-6, scattered five singles, struck out six and walked just one as the Dodgers stopped the Padres 2-0 and raised their lead in the National League's West Division to four games over second-place Cincinnati.

U.S. Team Passes the Test

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Despite being involved in sets that lasted 76 and 32 games, members of the United States Davis Cup tennis team are against use of the tie-breaker in Cup play.

"I don't think we need to change the format," said Dennis Ralston, non-playing captain of the U.S. team. "The Davis Cup is a test of ability, endurance and conditioning."

The U.S. team displayed all three qualities in routing Chile in the American Zone finals that ended Monday.

The Americans wrapped up the competition when Stan Smith and Erik Van Dillen, behind by two sets at one time, won three straight sets from Jaime Fillol and Pat Cornejo to 6-1 Monday, then the United States forfeited the final point, Ralston said Smith, who left for London to keep some prior commitments, had a slight shoulder injury and would not participate in his singles match with Fillol.

0 lead when Tom Gorman of Seattle defeated Fillol Friday in a match that included a 17-15 set and Smith, from Pasadena, Calif., whipped Cornejo in four sets in a match that began Friday and ended Saturday. Gorman defeated Cornejo 6-3, 6-1, 6-1 Monday, then the United States forfeited the final point, Ralston said Smith, who left for London to keep some prior commitments, had a slight shoulder injury and would not participate in his singles match with Fillol.

NCAA Splits

CHICAGO (AP) — Major college football powers now can run their own legislative house under an historic three-division split of the National Collegiate Athletic Association membership.

At the first special convention in its 67-year history, the NCAA voted overwhelmingly Monday to establish three autonomous divisions for its almost 700 members.

That junked the NCAA's traditional big school-vs.-small school convention lineup in which the smaller colleges dictated over-all operational policies by almost a 2-to-1 ratio.

As of last Jan. 1, the breakdown was 243 major schools and 421 in the college division and the small schools often overrode the big schools on prime issues such as recruiting, financial aid, and academic standards.

Brodie Still Among Best

CLEVELAND (UPI) — John Brodie, 38 years old and entering his 17th professional season, is proving again that he is one of the finest quarterbacks in pro football.

He proved it Monday night to 65,707 Cleveland fans, hitting 13 of 19 passes for 177 yards and a touchdown to lead the San Francisco 49ers to a 27-16 pre-season victory over the Browns.

Brodie, seeing his first action of the year, was impressed with his team's depth.

"We played a lot of people tonight and they showed they can play pro ball," he said. "They played up to the par of the guys they replaced."

He discounted his own role, irritated at having thrown one pass which Walt Sumner intercepted and ran back 24 yards for the Browns' only touchdown.

He threw a 22-yard touchdown pass to Gene Washington late in the third period to break the game open after Cleveland pulled within one point at 17-16.

And his passing set up three field goals by Bruce Gossett as the 49ers raised their pre-season record to 2-0. The loss was Cleveland's first and came as little surprise, since they are only 3-15 in pre-season play the past three years.

Tom Says Change

CLEVELAND (UPI) — If Tom Weiskopf had his way, this week's Professional Golfers' Association Championship would be decided by match play.

"Love, love it," said Weiskopf on the practice tee as he prepared for a round with Arnold Palmer, Lanny Wadkins and Bert Yancey.

"I wish they still played this tournament (PGA) in that form. But I guess that is no good for TV, so we'll have to stay with stroke play."

Dederick's Had Right Prescription

KINGSTON Dederick's had the right prescription, but the Freeman got a bad reaction from the Pharmacists' medicine at Upper Hasbrouck Park Monday night and as a result the newspaper slugs can be found in the obituaries today.

The City Slo Pitch D Division leading Dederick's club utilized some timely hitting and capitalized on some faulty Freeman fielding to score its tenth straight victory, 12-5, and all but clinch first place.

In other games Monday, Telephone Boozers tripped Gov. Clinton Cleaners, 7-2; Yallum's downed Wear House Fabrics, 19-6; Pier Seven III crushed Mahoney's Pub II, 14-1; and Rotron nosed out Shamrock, 7-5. Sunday, it was LaLima's 13, Country Kitchen 11; Wayside Inn 10, Potter Brothers 4; Edgar's 15, Boulevard Gulf 10; Boiceville Inn II 6, McCordie Leahy 4; and Kingston Hospital 16, Cordis Hose 6.

A big seven-run fifth inning settled matters for Dederick's. Jack Hickey led the first place team's attack with three hits. Tom Byer and Tom Byer each drove in a pair, Steve Kane cracked three singles for the Freeman. Roark Herron had a double and triple.

Bob Otto's homer helped lift the Boozers to victory. Hank Schatzel's three hits sparked Yallum's which won despite three hits by Wear House's Babe Whitaker. A pair of triples by John Finch, and three hits each by Joe Fautz and Gary Aidala solidified Pier Seven's hold on third place. Fifteen Rotron hits, including three by pitcher Bob Pirik nullified a homer and two singles by Shamrock's Ron Dreiser.

Alan Drake hit for the cycle as Edgar's whipped Boulevard. Bob Nuzzo, John Marsil, and Ed Burns also homered in the contest, and Mark Provenzano tripled twice. Tom Ryan's three hits were pivotal in Boiceville sending McCordie to another defeat. Walt Weber homered but Potter Brothers still fell before Wayside. LaLima's downed Country Kitchen despite four hits by Nick Roudis and a homer and two singles by Bill Weishaupt. Kingston Hospital cracked 21 hits, four by Dick Rushia, to beat Cordis Hose.

JOAN WESTON

Roller Derby Queen Here

KINGSTON Red Devils have replaced distaff captain Ann Calvello, sidelined for at least four months by a serious knee injury, with rugged Joan Weston, who normally leads Chicago's Pioneers. In the bargain, Devil manager Ken Monte has also signed Pioneer offensive mainstay Nick "The Greek" Scopas. They will back crimson regulars

Bob Woodberry, Rosetta Saunders, JoJo Stafford and Rose Duran.

Weston, the skate game's "Golden Girl," is probably the country's best known female athlete today. She holds the all time league record of 18 consecutive seasons on the All Star roster and is the league's current distaff MVP.

The champion Chiefs remain basically unchanged with rugged Bill Groll and Sandy Dunn handling defensive chores while the high scoring husband-wife duo of Mike Gammon and Judi McGuire top the offense.

Tickets, priced at $4.00, are on sale now at Crane's Men's Shop in the Ulster Avenue Mall; Carriage House Florist at Albany and Foxhall Ave.; the Central Fire station at 19 E. O'Reilly St.; Wiltwyck Fire Station at 267 Fair Street; Roundout Station No. 3 on Meadow Street; and from 6 p.m. the day of the game at the stadium.

Upsets Mark Soccer Action

KINGSTON Upsets were the order of the day in Mid-Hudson Junior Soccer Classic action.

In the Major Division, goals by Wayne and Jay Schaeffer enabled Chick Dalton Memorial to surprise the Dutchmen, 2-0. That, combined with a 8-0 win by the Dolphins over Dalton, and a 2-2 tie between Rudy's and Court Restaurant is making for a tighter race than had been expected in that loop.

In the National Division, the Cosmos suffered their first defeat of the season, a 2-1 whipping at the hands of Salamander Shoe. Billy Brenner scored the goals for the winners.

The Yankee Division wasn't without a shocker. There, the SAA Iroquois held West Hurley Farmer's Market to a 2-2 tie and snapped a two-year West Hurley winning streak.

Elsewhere, Dietz Auto Supply downed the Kingston Sport Club, 3-1. The Dutchmen topped the Sport Club, 2-0. Rudy's and Dietz played a 1-1 tie, and Franz House of Beauty knocked off Court, 2-1, in the Major Division.

Forsyth's Snack Bar tied Augustine Insurance, 1-1. Stone Ridge blanked Oren's, 2-0. Oren's downed Saugerties, 4-1, and the New Paltz Pathfinders tripped Saugerties, 5-4, in Prospect Division action.

Lomontville Tops Davenport

KYSERIKE There were only four hits in the game when Lomontville beat Davenport, 8-3, but there were 15 walks and a few errors and it all made things drag on long enough to have the contest called due to darkness after four and a half innings.

Pat McEvoy struck out 10 to get the win. Ted Nadratowski's double was the game's only extra base hit.

Jeff Debrosky took the defeat.

Hurley Swimmers Still Unbeaten

HURLEY Hurley Swim Club extended its Kingston Area Swims League record to 3-0-1 Saturday when it defeated Ridgeway, 232-154, behind Lisa Warren's four wins.

A triple by Bob Darling and Steve Hakim helped Hurley to its victory, as did doubles by Ellen McCordie, Tina Landers, John Markes, John Hickey, Jim Kaskowski, and Russ Voightlander.

Kim Troy, Ann Markes, Scott Sauer, and Paul Hakim were single winners for the Hurley squad.

Kelly O'Sullivan took four events to pace Ridgeway. Steve Palmer won three times, Kim McCormick twice, and Lynn Hanns, Beth Henry, Barbara Colao, Cathy Hines, and Tim Donnelly once each.

Another Win For Wiltwyck

While Catskill battled Wiltwyck for second place, Wiltwyck Golf Club's junior linksters walked off with another no-hum victory in the sixth match of the Mid-Hudson Junior Golf Classic at Stone Dock.

The margin of victory was 21 strokes this time as A.J. Maneen shot a medalist 75 to lead the parade. Catskill's John DeForest was individual runner-up at 39-38-77, and helped boost his team into second place, 339-341 over Woodstock.

Wiltwyck, which totalled a winning 318, received a 39, 40-79 from Bob Thomas and 82's from Kyle Murray (38-44) and Mark Brown (41-41) to go with Maneen's 36-39 combination. The winners took four of the top five individual places in the gross scoring while Maneen and Thomas each carded a net 72 to share second with three other golfers in the handicap competition.

The low net winner was DeForest, at 77-6, 71. In the five-way deadlock for second were Twaalfskill's Mike Dulin, 84-12, and Woodstock's Bill Kennedy and Catskill's Steve Van Castle, both at 85-13.

Other team results showed Twaalfskill in fourth place with a team total of 364. Next was Roundout at 385 followed by Locust Tree, 394. Stone Dock, 407, and Sawyerkill, 419.

Wiltwyck now maintains a massive 1923-2067 total stroke margin over Catskill through six matches. Woodstock is third at 2102 with Twaalfskill at 2176, Roundout 2297, Locust Tree, 2344, Sawyerkill 2351 and Stone Dock 2399.

Innocent Verdict Issued In Religious Sect Case

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ted Patrick, hired by the father of a young man to abduct and talk the son into quitting a fundamentalist religious sect, was found innocent Monday of unlawful imprisonment. Manhattan Criminal Court Judge Bruce McManis told the six jurors that if they believed Patrick's abduction of Daniel Voll, 21, of Farmington, Conn., was justified, they should find him innocent. Voll had left home to join the New Testament Missionary Fellowship of New York, and his father hired Patrick, a former aide to Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, to capture the youth and get him to leave the sect through several talk sessions. Patrick had successfully "deprogrammed" other youths at their parents' requests to counter what he called "brainwashing" on the part of the sects. But assistant district attorney Juan Ortiz said this constituted illegal imprisonment, a misdemeanor. He said there would be "chaos if we are going to allow parents who disagree over the religious doctrine of their children to kidnap them." A key defense witness was another young man Patrick had "captured" and talked into quitting the religious sect. The witness, William W. Lockwood, 21, is a former Yale roommate of Voll's. Lockwood said that while he was in the religious group, "Elders told us God had greater plans for our lives than staying with our parents." He also testified the group told young members their parents were instruments of the devil. Lockwood said, "We were told to take money from the kingdom of the devil and put it to use of the kingdom of God." Wright directed the jury to acquit Patrick if they believed Voll's father, who testified that "mental and emotional damage and injury to Daniel Voll was of such gravity that it was more desirable to deprogram him than it was to avoid that conduct." The jury deliberated 45 minutes, ending the 11-day trial with acquittal. In an earlier case last June, a grand jury refused to indict Patrick and four others on a similar charge.

Stratton Contemplating Running for Governor

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — more time talking to county leaders before announcing a decision. Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, asserting he is the man with the people's support, said Monday night that he will decide by the end of the year whether to run for governor. The Amsterdam Democrat told Democratic chairmen from 35 of the state's 62 counties that he wants to "spend a little more time talking to county leaders before announcing a decision." Stratton said the only way the Democrats can beat incumbent Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is to nominate a candidate who can win votes from a sizable number of upstate Republicans. Stratton claimed he is the only prospective candidate about whom there has been any spontaneous enthusiasm among Democrats. He said he has been besieged with requests and demands that he run from people who claim he is the only one who can beat Rockefeller. And, Stratton said, he believes the Democratic party has a good chance of electing a governor and taking control of the state legislature next year. He took an obvious jab at New York City Off Track Betting Chief and former Democratic gubernatorial candidate Howard Samuels. It is "easy enough to stir up some enthusiasm by spending a million dollars and putting together a professional staff," Stratton said, referring to Samuels' recent upstate trips which were admittedly political.

Norman Mailer Scores Suit Over Book

NEW YORK (UPI) — Norman Mailer, sued for $6 million over his book on Marilyn Monroe, said Monday the suit sought to suppress literary criticism and was "not worth 60 cents."

Maurice Zolotow last week filed the suit against Mailer and his publisher, Grosset and Dunlap. He charged them with libel, invasion of privacy, interference with contractual relationships and inflicting "emotional distress."

According to the suit, Mailer lifted large parts of Zolotow's 1960 book, "Marilyn Monroe," for his own recently published book "Marilyn." Mailer described some of the Zolotow book as "reached with overstressed and hollow anecdotes untrustworthy by the very style of their prose, a feature writer heating up the old dishes of other feature writers." "I would not wish to prejudice Mr. Zolotow's case unduly, but I cannot resist remarking that his $6 million libel suit is not worth 60 cents," Mailer said. If such criticism were construed as libel, "a literary critic could no longer afford to expose a piece of writing as meretricious," he said.

Your Horoscope

Wednesday, August 8

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is a particularly good time to produce results in which it is necessary to use much of the vitality that is released today. You can easily impress others with your ability to forge ahead. Rely more on your own intelligence.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You have strength of mind and body now to succeed in your aims, so don't waste time. Concentrate on activities that are most important to you. Make any necessary changes in travel plans.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Decide whatever is most important to your well-being and put your ideas in operation without delay. Strive for more harmony with associates. Come to a better understanding with mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Talk with associates on how to improve present operations, but make sure you don't act as a "know-it-all." Evening should be for having more harmony at home. Show more kindness to loved one.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take the time to come to a far better rapport with fellow workers. Take the exercises that will improve your health. Mate would appreciate dining out tonight. Enjoy life more.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)

Entertain those who have done favors for you in the past. Think over an important matter carefully before making a decision. Plan more intelligent for the future. Do something nice for your mate.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can now improve conditions at home and should waste little time in doing so. Some entertaining in the evening can be very pleasurable with kin. Do nothing that would irk others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) It may take some travel to obtain the information you require to improve your present activities. Become more cooperative with co-workers. Avoid one who likes to argue. Be more practical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) This is an excellent day for obtaining the data you need for a plan you have in mind. Do those things for good friends that will let them know you like them. They are in need of affection now.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have fine ideas and can put them in operation early so be sure to do so in a positive fashion. Don't be too demanding with others. Try not to criticize others at this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't confide data that has been given you by higher-ups to others. Being happy with those who mean a great deal to you is possible now. Make sure that your diet is right.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are socially minded now and should do something very constructive along such lines. Improve your relations with good friends. Gain the information you need to further your aims.

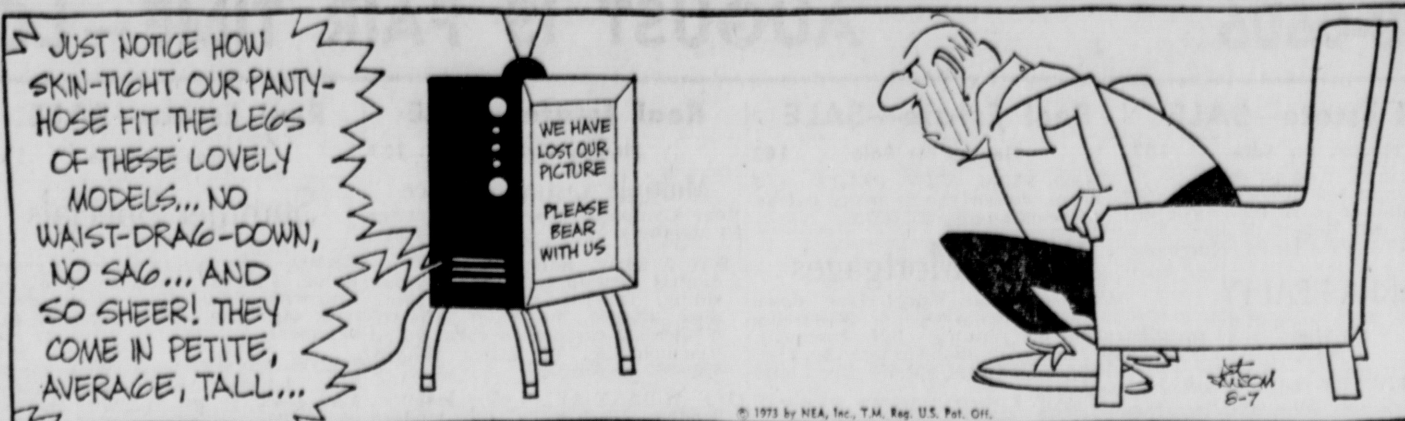

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Fine day for getting on the good side of bigwigs and the public in general. Engage in civic affairs and show that you are an excellent citizen. Going on a tangent now could lead to trouble.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those charming young people who is positive and outgoing, but is no one to keep a secret very well. Direct the education along pleasing the public in some way, or in humanitarian endeavors. The field of investigation is fine here, as well as government work. Spiritual training is a must. Give some sports early in life.

Jean Adams'

TEEN FORUM

TOUGH: (Q.) These boys think they are really tough. They are big and think they can boss everybody around just because they are good in sports.

I am not big like they are. They always pick on me. If I try to talk to one of their girl friends they beat me up. This bunch of girls likes them, but they don't know they smoke grass.

What should I do?—Picked On in Indiana.

(A.) Leave these boys and their girl friends alone. Then they will have no reason to pick on you. You can find other girls to talk to.

This does not mean that I approve either of "toughs" or girls who hang around with them. It is just that I get no indications from your letter that this group of boys interferes with you except when you interfere with them.

If you know (not just suspect) that they are doing anything illegal, talk to your parents about them. They may want to notify the authorities.

In the meantime keep clear of the boys and keep out of trouble.

THE MOST: (Q.) I really love Mary Jane. She's the most beautiful girl I ever saw. I want her to love me. But I just know she despises me because she is 14 and I am only 12. Please don't tell me there are other fish in the sea—all 12 years old. I won't ever find another girl like Mary Jane. How can I get her to love me?—Troubled Lover in Connecticut.

(A.) Mary Jane IS a little old for you, but you are being needlessly negative on what to me seems insufficient evidence.

For the time being, set your goal at making a friend out of Mary Jane. That should be possible. In a few years, you might graduate into being her boy friend.

The important thing now is to become her friend.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 3402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

CBS Morning Show Debuts

NEW YORK (AP) — Well, it's finally under way. After a heavy meet-the-press and publicity campaign, Hughes Rudd and Sally Quinn have begun life as coanchors of the "CBS Morning News."

However, their dawn debut Monday was slightly under Whoopie on television's scale of excitement, despite pledges by CBS-TV the new offering would be livelier and less formal than before.

The hour-long show seemed about the same as when headed by John Hart and Nelson Bentley. Only the cast, set and ad libs were new.

NBC's durable "Today" show, which has been beating all comers since 1952, took no notice whatsoever Monday of the potential ratings threat posed by the new CBS team. It did nothing out of the ordinary.

It just moved outdoors to Rockefeller Plaza, brought in Duke Ellington's band and held a tennis exhibition on the plaza's private road between 49th and 50th streets. Nothing unusual there.

For Rudd, a 14-year veteran of reporting for CBS, the new job seemed old hat. Miss Quinn, with four years logged on the Washington Post but no prior television experience, seemed to have any opening-day jitters under control, despite a bad cold.

CBS says the cold was so bad that, just before the show, Miss Quinn was rushed to a hospital for a quick checkup and medication. She immediately repaired to her bed when the show was over.

"Wouldn't you know the first day I come on television I start out with a sore throat and a fever?" she joked as the program began.

"Well, a fever is all right as long as it doesn't make you delirious," mused Mudd. "Actually, there've been a lot of people on television who were delirious. They're usually running for public office."

But after that start, the quality of commentary—on Miss Quinn's part—tended to wander, fall flat or come out just plain silly, particularly after a film story on child labor on California farms.

"I can remember when my father and mother wanted me to clean my room—I thought that was child labor," said Miss Quinn, the daughter of an Army general. "Have you ever tried to pick strawberries for half an hour?"

"You can't do it. It's just absolutely killing work," Miss Quinn, a good, waspish writer, would have murdered anyone using that line, were she still in the newspaper game. So blame the fever and wait to see how things look when she feels better.

She only seemed up to par when participating in a four-way grilling of Patrick Buchanan, President Nixon's speechwriter.

CBS, looking for improved ratings after years of trying to lure away the "Today" audience, says the new morning news show is carried in its entirety by 161 stations, including all five CBS-owned stations.

Prior to Monday, the show was carried in full by 110 CBS affiliates and in part by another 50, CBS spokesmen say.

Banking Panel Preparing Financial Structure Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the prime interest rate at an all-time high, the House Banking Committee is preparing to investigate the nation's financial structure and its impact on the credit crunch.

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the committee, says he wants the panel to write a plan for stabilizing soaring interest rates.

The prime lending rate, the figure charged banks' most creditworthy customers, reached 9 per cent throughout the industry Monday, the highest rate on record.

The prime rate was 6 per cent at the beginning of the year.

Since January, the Banking Committee staff has been preparing an analysis of financial institutions and regulations and considering possible reforms.

Before Congress began a month-long recess last Friday, Patman, a persistent critic of high lending rates, said his panel will hold hearings in September to "consider all aspects of the current credit crunch and the manner in which it is related to financial structure and regulation."

He promised the committee will draft specific legislation in September or early October to stabilize interest rates.

In a letter to committee members, Patman acknowledged "many divisions of opinion" within the panel about key financial issues.

"But I feel there is general agreement that we must improve the delivery of credit services to the people on more stable and reasonable terms and on a basis which will allow the entire economy to remain competitive and prosper," Patman said.

Interest rates are exempt from controls under President Nixon's economic stabilization program.

Meanwhile, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said today the economic outlook for the year ahead is a 1970-type recession with increases in prices and unemployment.

He gave this gloomy assessment on the basis of hearings he conducted for the Senate House Economic Committee on the state of the economy at midyear.

"I am convinced that there is nothing in our current economic policies that will retard an inflation that we will suffer for years to come," he said in a statement.

"Even worse, as the economy does slow to a recession level, prices will continue to rise sharply," he said.

Treasury Secretary George Shultz said Sunday he is confident the nation is not headed for a recession.

Athens Airport Killings... 'Got Flights Mixed Up'

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The two Arabs who attacked a line of passengers in the Athens airport terminal Sunday said they had been ordered to kill travelers en route to Israel, "but they got their flights mixed up," the Greek police reported.

"Their mission was to attack Trans World Airlines passengers heading for Tel Aviv," said one investigator. Those passengers boarded their plane minutes before the two men opened up with grenades and pistols.

The gunmen attacked a line waiting to board a TWA flight to New York. They killed two Americans from New Jersey and an Austrian and wounded 55 persons. The Arabs surrendered after failing to negotiate safe passage to the Middle East.

The police said the two killers claimed they were members of Black September, the Arab terrorist organization responsible for the attack on the Israeli team at the Munich Olympics. But a Black September spokesman in Beirut said his organization had "nothing to do with the Athens operation."

"I assure you they cannot be Black September. They made too many mistakes," the spokesman told the newspaper Al Moharrer.

The gunmen were identified as Mohammed Zemod, 21, a Palestinian refugee, and Talal Kadooral, 21, a native of Egypt. Greek authorities said they would be tried for the killings.

Police officials said Zemod told them he arrived by plane from Libya shortly before the attack while Kadooral landed from Beirut. The police believed they obtained their weapons from accomplices at the airport and said two women and a man who might be the accomplices also were in custody.

2nd Bombing Error By Air Force Planes

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — U.S. Air Force planes in their second bombing error in two days today hit Cambodian government military positions only four miles from Neak Luong, destroyed in an accidental bombing Monday, military sources said.

Military sources said today at least 400 persons were killed or wounded in Monday's bombing at Neak Luong, a strategic Mekong River navy town 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh. That bombing was the worst such accident in the history of American involvement in Indochina.

Military sources said that early today American warplanes struck government positions on an island northwest of Banan on the Mekong River and only four miles from Neak Luong.

They said initial reports showed four persons killed and another 12 injured. The kinds of planes involved today were not immediately known, but the sources said an immediate investigation was launched.

Meanwhile, Cambodian and American officials tried to pin down exact casualties in the Neak Luong tragedy, in which either a B52 bomber or an F111 jet fighter-bomber was dropped its deadly payload over the sleeping river town before dawn.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman today said estimates of about 100 killed and 300 wounded were fairly accurate. But he said the casualty count may go higher.

U.S. and Cambodian officials were trying to determine the circumstances that led to the American bombing error at Neak Luong, a strategic navy town 32 miles southeast of Phnom Penh. Much of the town was blasted into rubble.

Officials said it was the worst such disaster of the Indochina war and it came with only 10 days to go before U.S. bombing raids over Cambodia are halted.

Col. David H. E. Opfer, air attaché at the American Embassy, estimated that 25 to 65 persons died at Neak Luong. But other U.S. sources said the figure would go "much higher."

More than 200 wounded persons arrived in Phnom Penh by helicopter within hours after the bombing incident, which was caused by either a B52 guerrilla attack.
